Germans' North, Central Fronts Fall Apart Under Allied Blows

Germans Being Rapidly Cleared From Vienna

Russians Racing for Junction With Allies

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

LONDON, April 10.—(AP)—Russian forces beyond Vienna headed today for Munich and Prague and a link-up with the Allies in the west as Soviet storm units within the Austrian capital battled the Germans for the last few blocks of the city.

Moscow radio said "the fall of Vienna is imminent".

A Moscow dispatch said Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's 3rd Ukrainian army "was making startling progress" in its drive west of Vienna toward Linz and Munich. The army's exact position was not given, however, since the Germans in many sectors were unaware of the scope of the Russian advance.

South of Vienna another wing of Tolbukhin's army had thrust within 132 miles east of Adolf Hitler's mountain retreat at Berchtesgaden.

By ROBERT MUSEL
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, April 10. — (BUP) — Red Army forces cleared two-thirds of Vienna today and battled for crossings of the Danube river and canal to complete the liberation of the Austrian capital.

Virtually all that portion of Vienna west of the river and canal, including the centre of the city, was liberated by Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's Third Ukrainian Army yesterday.

Swept up in the advance were the

Crosses Senio River in Powerful Drive

Eighth Army Strikes to Smash German Army Before It Can Flee Into Mountain Redoubt

ROME, April 10.—(AP)—The British 8th Army, supported by a bombardment from hundreds of guns and the heaviest Allied air assault ever carried out in Italy, has crossed the Senio river in a campaign to destroy as much as possible of the opposing German army before it can withdraw into Germany's southern mountain redoubt.

The eastern end of the Italian front burst into flame at 7:30 p.m. Monday when hundreds of heavy guns opened up. Bridgeheads were established on a broad front on the north side of the Senio in the vicinity of Lugo.

More than 1,000 heavy bombers, plus hundreds of fighter planes which flew thousands of sorties, had thoroughly saturated German defences with bombs and fire, and the crossings were accomplished quickly against relatively light opposition.

ENDS WINTER LULL

The smash across the Senio brought to an end the prolonged winter lull on this front.

A strike west of Lugo would en-

To Cut Up German Army

Russian, Yank Forces in Position For Tactical Field Co-Operation

By DON WHITEHEAD

WITH U.S. 1st ARMY, April 10.—(AP)—Russian and American armies today are in a position for tactical field co-operation in cutting up what remains of the German army.

Marshal Konev's 1st Ukrainian Army and the armies of Generals Patton and Hodges are only some 150 miles apart, and it is possible for them to co-ordinate their moves in slashing Germany apart at the waist.

The shortest line between the Americans and Russians stretches from the spearhead of the 3rd Army near Weimar to Goerlitz east of Dresden.

Should simultaneous drives be opened down this line through Leipzig and Dresden the Allies probably would slice Germany in half in relatively short order and a corridor would be opened between the Russian and American fronts.

Some veteran military men foresee capitulation of all enemy forces left in the half of the country that is cut off from Hitler by such bisecting.

New Regulations

Increase Legal Truck Speed in This Province

Legal speed limit for trucks on Alberta highways has been raised to 40 miles an hour, according to new regulations issued by the Highway Traffic Board.

The former truck limit was 30 miles an hour. The speed increase applies outside of cities, towns and villages.

Traffic board officers said Tuesday it was felt 30 miles an hour was an unreasonably low speed limit for trucks. In some cases, gear ratios make it extremely difficult for a truck to be operated economically below 30.

NOW IN LINE

The new speed limit brings truck regulations in line with automobile regulations. The 30 miles an hour is also more in line with the maximum speed in other Canadian provinces.

Further regulations passed by the traffic board allow an increase in maximum allowable weight of an individual vehicle with more than two axles, or any combination of vehicles coupled together. The new weight limit is 33,000 pounds.

Another order bans two-wheeled or pole trailers for petroleum product transportation. Such trailers may be used for lumber or pipe loads.

Time Is Extended For Tax Payments

OTTAWA, April 10. — (CP)—Time for payment of income tax has been extended from April 30 to August 31, Acting Revenue Minister MacKinnon announced today in the Commons. He tabled an order-in-council, passed today, making the change. Similar action also was taken last year.

Although final payment need not be made until Aug. 31, revenue department officials said income tax returns still must be filed by April 30, as was the case last year.

Deferment of the payment deadline last year was made to avoid any conflict with the Sixth Victory Loan campaign which was in progress from May 1 to April until early May. A similar situation exists this year with the Eighth Victory Loan campaign April 23 and extending into May.

351 German Planes Lost in Three Days

LONDON, April 10. — (AP) — Allied planes destroyed at least 351 enemy aircraft yesterday as American heavy bombers and fighters pounded airfields between Hannover and Munich and the RAF dropped its tremendous 11-ton bombs on U-boat shelters at Hamburg. Scores of enemy planes were caught parked on the ground when Allied fighters and fighter-bombers swooped down in strafing runs. These successes brought the three-day cost to the German air force to at least 381 planes.

Jap Transport, Destroyer Sunk

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

MANILA, April 10. — (BUP) — American troops steadily compressed three big Japanese pockets on Luzon today while airmen caught 12 more enemy ships, including two destroyers, in the China Sea blockade.

The heaviest toll in the aerial strikes was taken when Philippines-based Liberators of the 7th fleet intercepted a 15-ship convoy leaving the Chinese port of Swatow, west of Formosa.

One destroyer and a 8,000-ton transport were sunk, while another destroyer and a fourth ship, presumably a cargo vessel, were seriously damaged. It was not disclosed whether the transport was carrying any Japanese troops.

Army Air Force bombers accounted for eight other merchant craft, in far-ranging raids from the Dutch East Indies to Hong Kong and Formosa, where Liberators dumped another 171 tons of bombs on the island's airdromes.

Youth, 18, to Hang For Slaying Farmer

MELFORT, Sask., April 10.—(CP)—Ernest Teale, 18, was sentenced by Mr. Justice H. V. Bigelow in a Saskatchewan court of King's Bench yesterday to hang July 19 next after a jury convicted him of murdering A. J. Vansickle, 60-year-old Naisberry district farmer. The jury verdict recommended mercy. Vansickle's bullet-riddled body was found in his automobile by the roadside eight miles east of Melfort last Nov. 17.

Fighters Destroy 245 Enemy Planes

LONDON, April 10. — (CP) — Fighter pilots of the United States 8th Air Force today destroyed at least 245 German planes — 227 of them on the ground — and set an all-time record for fighters

British, Yanks Racing to Elbe, Last River Line Before Berlin

From CP, AP and BUP Dispatches

ADVANCED HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Germany, April 10.—German defences on both the northern and central sectors of the western front sagged back and crumbled today under smashing blows by Allied armored and infantry forces, supported by intense aerial bombardment.

British and American columns are now racing up the Elbe river, last water barrier before Berlin, while to the west Canadian army troops are battering trapped German divisions in Holland and driving them back to the sea.

WHOLE PLAIN AFLAME

All the North German plain is aflame, the fleeing Nazis starting many fires in towns and villages as they hastily evacuated. Those places not put to the torch by the Nazis are being burned and blasted from the air by the Allies.

Bremen, big German North Sea port is burning as British 2nd Army infantry and armor wage a street by street and block by block battle inside the city.

Hannover, important arms and communication centre to the east and south of Bremen has been captured, and only isolated enemy resistance is now being met there.

In the Ruhr basin where some 100,000 or more Germans are vainly trying to break out of the ring of flames and steel surrounding them,

War Criminals To Get No Home In Erie: Churchill

LONDON, April 10.—(CP)—Prime Minister Churchill implied today that he would see to it that no war criminals found sanctuary in neutral Eire.

The question arose in the house of commons when Dr. James Little, a Presbyterian minister from Belfast, asked the Prime Minister whether he would take steps to make sure that no war criminals find refuge in any country embraced within the British Commonwealth of Nations.

The written reply from Mr. Churchill was: "Yes sir."

Eire has stated giving the Allies flat assurances that Axis war criminals would be banned.

The Eire government, however, has served notice that anyone who jeopardized the country's neutrality or was undesirable would not be admitted.

Canada's total casualties since the war began to Jan. 31 have been given in Ottawa on March 1 as 87,609. The army figure was 66,630; the air force 18,821, and the navy 2,068. Of the total, 32,155 were listed as dead and 4,347 as missing.

STOCKHOLM, April 10.—(AP)—All German civilians who have fled to Sweden in recent days will be sent back to their country immediately, the Swedish minister of justice announced yesterday.

Date Uncertain

Election Seen Late in June Or Early July

By CHESTER BLOOM
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, April 10—Prime Minister King's lengthy explanation to the House Monday night of when and how the election date is fixed, left the members in a state of confusion, more confounded. The clearest point that emerged was that he would give them the date within 48 hours after it was concluded the business of the house.

Guessers continued to put it some time in late June or early July, based on Mr. King's statement culled from a letter of Jules Castonguay, chief electoral officer, that after the dissolution of parliament and issuance of the writs "to all intents and purposes it will be two months until the date of polling."

As the House expires at midnight, Monday, April 16, if the writs were issued immediately, that would mean an election on June 11. But that's the very minimum. It might be put a month later or on any date between.

GOING TO PARLEY

Mr. King told the House he wanted to get away next Thursday in order to be in San Francisco at the opening of the conference. H

For Allowances

Tax Exemptions Given Children May Be Dropped

By CHESTER BLOOM
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, April 10.—The Bulletin was informed today from authoritative sources close to the government that before the house adjourns this weekend, notice of amendments to the Income Tax Act will be introduced which will abolish income tax exemptions for children.

Whether this legislation would be proposed for the current short session or merely put forward for a new parliament to deal with, could not be learned positively. All officials would say on the subject was that such legislation is pending "now."

According to The Bulletin's information, the proposal is to bring the Income Tax Act into line with the new Family Allowance Act. It would obviate the necessity of taxpayers (mostly those in the income brackets under $2,500 a year) having their allowances for children offset against income tax exemptions for

Jap Troops Enter City of Laohokow

CHUNGKING, April 10.—(AP)—The Chinese high command acknowledged today that Japanese forces had entered Laohokow, former site of an advanced U.S. air base 300 miles northwest of Hankow, but said the garrison still was battling stubbornly within the city.

10,321 British Captives Freed

LONDON, April 10. — (BUP) — War Secretary Sir James Grigg disclosed today that 10,321 British prisoners-of-war have been freed from German prison camps by Allied advances in the west and the Russian sweep in the east. He told the House of Commons that the Russians had freed 3,312, of whom 679 had been evacuated from Odessa, and the remainder had been liberated on the western front.

Cost $3,700 Each

Rentals for Wartime Houses To Be $24 to $30 Monthly

Construction costs of Wartime Housing Ltd. homes to be erected in the Ritchie district for exclusive occupancy by ex-service personnel and dependents will cost approximately $3,700 each, it was disclosed by Mayor John W. Fry at Monday night's city council meeting. Rentals will be from $24 to $30 monthly.

This information was contained in a communication from the crown company seeking a variation in the contract between the company and the City of Edmonton, because the homes would cost approximately $700 more than was originally estimated. Contract for the erection of the first 100 homes has been awarded to the lowest tenderer, it was intimated in the communication.

The increased cost of the construction is caused by the assumption by the company of the cost of bringing sewer and water connections from the city's mains to the houses, and also by the fact that construction costs in Edmonton are $300 higher than for similar houses erected in other parts of the Dominion.

ASK FOR EXTENSION

The crown company requested that the proposed agreement be varied to fix the date at which the

Seize Two Generals

BLOMBERG, Germany, April 10 —(AP)—The 113th Cavalry Group of the United States 9th Army captured two German generals today east of the Weser river. One bluffered into American lines

Airborne Attack Highly Successful

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY, April 10.—(AP)—Allied troops who parachuted behind enemy lines over a wide area south of Groningen, riddling enemy communications and defence in North Holland, have been "tremendously successful" in their operations, officers of forward units said last night. The airborne troops reported capture of at least two objectives in the first 12 hours after dropping behind the enemy's positions.

Organized Resistance Would End

Linking of Western Allies With Russians May Be Time Chosen by Big 3 for V-E Day

By WES GALLAGHER

HAMELIN, April 10—(AP)—A juncture between British-American and Russian forces may well be the time chosen by the three powers to declare an organized warfare with Germany at an end.

Such a declaration would give German soldiers one of two choices —they could either surrender and be treated as prisoners of war or continue fighting and be hunted down as Franc-tireurs or guerillas, having no legal military status.

Judging by the morale of German troops captured in the past two weeks there is little doubt what the German soldiers' choice would be. Those still willing to die for the Fuehrer are few and far between.

The western front is that in name only. There is no real German front left. The realistance now being encountered by American forces, except in the Ruhr pocket, is unorganized and little more than strong guerilla opposition.

Military men feel the Germans are incapable of erecting any battle front in the west, except perhaps for a short stand along the Elbe and immediately before Berlin itself.

Most military men believe the joint chiefs of staff in Washington will fix some definite line in Germany to which either the Russians or the western front Allies will advance and then halt, waiting for the forces opposite to move up and join them.

WILL END RESISTANCE

This meeting, no matter where, probably will end what might be called organized resistance in Germany. Military observers believe. A meeting by the U.S. 3rd Army and the Russians near Berlin would accomplish a similar feat, making it impossible for the German high command to conduct any sort of organized war.

Such a cutting up of the German army would allow German soldiers to surrender "with honor," because their military situation would be impossible

One Arrested

Midnight Chase Ends in Smash On 100 Avenue

Ray Moore, 10738 93 street, was under arrest in Royal Alexandra hospital Tuesday morning, after what police described as a wild midnight auto chase which resulted in a spectacular smashup on 100 avenue.

Jack Broser, 9632 110 avenue, driver of the second car involved, is also in the Royal Alexandra hospital, suffering from ankle injuries.

Moore would face two charges, officers stated Tuesday noon. One of these would be for dangerous driving, and the second for obstructing a peace officer.

TOWED TO STATION

The wrecked auto he had been operating was towed to a vacant lot behind the police station.

It was understood he might be released from Royal Alexandra hospital and appear in police court Tuesday afternoon.

According to police reports, a squad car spotted Moore's auto at 12:40 a.m. Tuesday, travelling with

British Casualties Now Total 502,396

LONDON, April 10.—(CP)—British armed forces suffered 502,396 casualties, including 214,287 dead, up to Feb. 28 Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today.

In a written report Mr. Churchill also listed Canadian losses at 89,220, including 31,439 killed, 45,251 wounded and 8,367 prisoners of war and Australian at 87,256, including 19,430 killed, 33,595 wounded and 25,276 prisoners.

Mr. Churchill said that in addition to the British casualties listed, 183,242 servicemen from the United Kingdom either were prisoners or internees in neutral countries.

These figured do not include the deaths of members of the armed forces from natural causes nor casualties of civilians nor merchant seamen due to enemy action.

It Says Here

by Bob Hope

HOLLYWOOD, April 10.—One of the latest stories to come out of Germany is the one about Hitler personally leading a final suicide charge against the Allies. I can see him now right up in front—waving his paste brush. But Adolf really might be safer up in the front lines—up there he'd be farther away from his generals. And if they wanted to camouflage any tanks he could hang the wallpaper over them. Hitler has always claimed he ran his army by intuition. But from here—it looks like his intuition is now suffering from malnutrition. And they say Adolf wanted Goering to help him lead the charge—but he decided it might be too dangerous. If Goering ever got shot and fell down, it'd take the rest of the army too long to go around him. Every day you hear another rumor about Hitler. One report said he'd gone crazy—that's like saying Betty Grable is getting good looking

Nazi Central, North Fronts Falling Apart

fierce battles are being fought, while further south, American armor drove still closer toward the Czechoslovakian border and a junction with the Red Armies advancing from the east.

FRENCH ADVANCE

On the extreme southern end of the Allied line the 1st Fighting French Army also made big gains.

Heavily censored field dispatches from the British 2nd Army front show the infantry of two divisions well into Bremen after a stiff fight with German rear guards in Riedel, seven miles from the port.

Other British forces are pounding up from Wildehausen, 15 miles southwest and a third column broke across the Weser at Hoya and advanced rapidly northward to outflank Bremen.

Still another British tank force broke out through Nineburg and raced 14 miles forward to cross the Leine river, capturing three towns on the way. They are now less than 60 miles from Hamburg and still advancing.

JOHNSTH'S DRIVE

Part of the British tank force wheeled away from the Hamburg road to join the American 9th Army drive on Brunswick and the Elbe.

Both British and Americans report fanatical but ineffective opposition from Nazi Volksturm and Hitler Youth groups along the main highways running beyond Hanover to Brunswick. Some columns report the Nazis battling tanks at point-blank range, blowing up themselves and the Allied armor with anti-tank grenades.

These power thrusts are linked up with a new drive by American 1st Army units who outflanked Nordhausen in central Germany, 115 miles southwest of Berlin, and another advance by the U.S. 3rd Army farther south where a gain of 15 miles along a 56-mile front is reported.

Behind the British spearheads striking eastward, United Kingdom and Canadian tanks and infantry closed in on five German divisions virtually isolated between the estuaries of the Wesel and Ems rivers and farther west. Gen. H. D. G. Crerar's First Canadian Army continued its relentless pressure against 50,000 to 80,000 Nazis pinned down on the Netherlands.

HUGE ENCIRCLEMENT

All Germans west of the Weser river, whose numbers are vaguely estimated at from 150,000 to 250,000, are falling into the vast net woven by Field Marshal Sir Bernard Montgomery, probably the greatest enveloping operation of the western front campaign.

Forces of the American First and Ninth Armies also were "teamed up in the Ruhr pocket. The German commander, Field Marshal Walther Von Model, is believed to be in the trap together with an estimated 100,000 or more German troops.

The whole Ruhr is ablaze from Allied bombs and shellfire, and field dispatches said the Americans advanced as much as six miles into the pocket today against weakening opposition.

CO-ORDINATED DRIVES

The Allied strike across northern Germany is co-incident with the new advance by the American First Army into the fringe of the Harz mountains.

Lt.-Gen. Courtney Hodges' men broke loose on a 25-mile sweep beyond their Weser river bridgeheads yesterday and followed through early today with the armored and infantry drive on Northausen, that knocked a 30-mile wide hole in the German defences.

Late field dispatches said they were closing fast on Nordhausen against weak opposition.

Lt.-Gen. George S. Patton's American Third Army also was on the move farther south. The Third Army's drive, a Berlin spokesman said, was fanning out east toward the Czechoslovakian frontier and south into Bavaria toward Nuernberg.

Late this afternoon the U.S. 1st and 3rd Armies were reported wiping 130 miles of the Russian lines to the east. They are operating in ideal tank country where Germany can be cut in two.

22,000 PRISONERS

Headquarters spokesmen said 22,000 prisoners already had been taken from the Ruhr pocket by the two American armies, leaving an estimated 100,000 to 120,000 Germans still in the trap.

Swarms of Allied fighter-bombers swarmed out to join the battle at first light today, raking the retreating enemy all across the northern plazas and southward in the path of the American First, Third and Seventh armies.

Reports of clear flying weather indicated the Allied sky fleets might duplicate yesterday's devastating series of strikes on the German's airfields and communications centres on the roads to Berlin.

Flying upwards of 5,000 sorties yesterday, RAF, Canadian and American raiders destroyed 189 German planes, 168 of them caught aground and sowed death and destruction through the enemy's forward battle areas from Hamburg to Munich.

OPEN JOINT DRIVES

The blistering air attack sent the American First and Third Armies off again on their joint drives across central Germany, with the First hooking up for Magdeburg and Berlin and the Third east and southeast for Leipzig and the Czechoslovak border.

There was no further word of a German-reported American paratroop attack on the First Army's southern flank. Berlin said the paratroops were fighting in Bad Sooden, 10 miles southwest of Heiligenstadt, and trying to link up with the American Third Army in that sector.

Front dispatches said Patton's infantry formations advanced as much as nine miles today along a front extending south from the Frankfurt - Dresden - Leipzig superhighway for more than 20 miles. The gains for the most part, however, were line-straightening operations aimed at wiping out small enemy bulges in Patton's front.

At Waldau, Patton's troops were 58 miles from the northwestern corner of Czechoslovakia.

5,000 CAPTIVES

German resistance was rough at some points along the attack front, but upwards of 5,000 Nazis were captured there yesterday and the advance was reported continuing steadily.

Patton's southern flank rested on Roth, 11 miles southwest of Waldau and only nine miles north of American Seventh Army troops who advanced 23 miles beyond the ball-bearing centre of Schweinfurt to Rieth.

Far to the southwest, other Seventh Army units were locked in a savage fight for Nazis in the 25-mile-long salient jutting down to within 94 miles northwest of Munich.

Swarms of German planes and the crack Nazi 17th SS Panzer Division were reported smashing continually at the nose of the American salient at Crailsheim, but late dispatches said the Americans were holding fast.

French First Army forces to the south drove within nine miles northwest of Stuttgart at Ober Riexingen.

Pearkes Is Asked To Be Candidate

VANCOUVER, April 10.—(CP)—Maj.-Gen. George R. Pearkes, VC, former general officer commanding-in-chief, Pacific Command, said last night he has been approached to contest the forthcoming federal election but he had not yet given a definite answer.

He made the statement when queried about a Toronto dispatch stating that he would run as a Progressive Conservative in the Nanaimo constituency.

The former Pacific Command head said: "Since I was relieved of the Pacific Command, I have been approached with a view to contesting the Nanaimo constituency but I have not given a definite answer to date."

(The Toronto Telegram said in a newspage story from Ottawa yesterday that Gen. Pearkes will be named at a convention this Saturday to oppose Capt. Alan Chambers, Liberal, the sitting member).

If the general enters politics he will be Canada's second general of this war to do so. Gen. McNaughton, his former chief, having taken over the defence department and only recently lost out in a bid for the Commons seat in Grey North.

Gen. Pearkes said he would "confirm nor deny" the Toronto dispatch.

FFI Take Over Fighting Front At West Ports

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

PARIS, April 10.—(BUP)—The French Forces of the Interior have taken over the "Forgotten Front" on the west coast of France, 200 miles from the Nazis entellines, it can be revealed today.

The German-held Atlantic ports and Dunkerque are "besieged" by FFI forces equipped with an assortment of German, British and Allied rifles, tommy guns, a few mortars and odd pieces of light artillery.

The fighting on the Forgotten Front seldom ceases entirely. Every day men are killed or wounded in bitter little skirmishes on the perimeters of the Nazi nests on the west coast of France.

For nearly eight months the "suicide garrisons" of Germans have blocked the use of France's Atlantic ports from Lorient to Bordeaux.

Former Minister Suggests Leaves For More Troops

OTTAWA, April 10.—(CP)— Col. J. L. Ralston, former defence minister, said last night in the Commons that if the reinforcement situation overseas was 75 per cent better than forecast last November he believed it would follow that a greater number of men could be brought home on rotation leave.

Douglas Abbott, parliamentary assistant to Defence Minister McNaughton, said the number of men being brought home on rotation leave was being increased as fast as shipping would allow. He was satisfied that the reinforcement figures given the House by him were correct.

Col. Ralston said Mr. Abbott had disclosed that there was a saving of some 12,000 men in casualties since last November, because casualties were lower than forecast.

Plan Early Start On New Highway

VICTORIA, April 10.—(CP)—If costs are all reasonable, the Provincial government is determined to make a start on the Pine Pass highway link to the British Columbia Peace River block this summer, Hon. Herbert Anscomb, minister of public works, announced last night. Tenders for the work will be called by the government within three weeks. The job is expected to cost in the neighborhood of $6,000,000.

10 French Airmen Arrested For Plot

PARIS, April 10.—(AP)—French military intelligence disclosed today the arrest of 10 French air force officers on suspicion of complicity in a recently-uncovered plot against the government. The officers were charged with attempting to incite insubordination among French air force personnel.

Nazi Airfields For Jet Craft Heavily Bombed

By LEO S. DISHER

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, April 10.—(BUP)—A fleet of 1,300 heavy bombers of the U.S. 8th Air Force, escorted by 850 fighter planes, attacked seven Nazi airfields for jet-propelled aircraft in Northern Germany today.

The Flying Fortresses and Liberators also hit an experimental field at Rechlin and an ordnance supply centre at Oranienburg.

Jet-propelled plane bases at Oranienburg, Lars, Burg, Briest, Neuruppin, Zerbst and Parchim, felt the heavy blows of the big bombers.

KIEL ATTACKED

More than 900 RAF and Canadian planes bombed Germany last night, the majority concentrating on shipyards at the big Nazi naval base at Kiel, Berlin also was hit.

Submarine building yards were the main target at Kiel. The bombing was well concentrated and huge fires and many violent explosions were observed, the air ministry announced.

Objectives at Plauen, Hamburg and Stade also were bombed and mines were laid in enemy waters.

RAF Lancasters, with an escort, dropped 11-ton volcano and six-ton earthquake bombs on German submarine shelters at Hamburg yesterday.

Chaplin Eludes Process Server

LOS ANGELES, April 10.—(AP)—Charlie Chaplin eluded a process server seeking to summon him as a witness yesterday in the retrial of Joan Berry's paternity suit, her lawyer informed the court.

Judge Clarence L. Kincaid said Mr. Chaplin was privileged to remain away "at his own risk".

Joseph Scott, Miss Berry's lawyer, said a process server found Mr. Chaplin on a tennis court, but that he escaped "ran like a scared jackrabbit".

Union of Allies In Reich Is Likely Near Halle-Leipzig

STOCKHOLM, April 10.—(AP)—The Russian and American armies in Germany and the western Allies to meet somewhere in the Halle-Leipzig area, a Berlin dispatch to the newspaper Dagen Nyheter said yesterday.

(Leipzig is 82 miles southwest of Berlin. Halle is an adjoining city. The U.S. 1st Army last was reported 100 miles due west of Leipzig and the 1st Ukrainian Army 109 miles due east.)

"The eastern front can explode any moment now," the paper quoted Berlin military quarters. "Troop concentrations indicate there probably is an agreement between the Anglo-American commands on a combined assault designed to meet in the Halle-Leipzig area".

Says Pharmaceutical Services in Forces Are Below Standard

OTTAWA, April 10.—(CP)—Pharmaceutical services as administered in the British and Canadian armies "about the same as in the days of the Crimean war", Mahley Edwards (L-Calgary West) said yesterday in the Commons.

In civilian life only trained pharmacists were allowed to compound or dispense drugs. In the army persons with no formal training in the art were dispensing drugs to the personnel of the forces.

The same was true of the navy and to a lesser extent of the air force. He understood opposition to improvement came from the medical branch of the services.

"That is the same branch which for 30 years fought and opposed the establishment of a dental corps", said Mr. Edwards.

Edmonton Officer Back in Dominion

By The Canadian Press

Veterans of the battlefields of Europe, more than 500 of them five-year men home on rotation leave, have arrived in the Dominion on their way home for a rest or for new positions. About 400 of the veterans were medical walking cases, men who had caught snipers' bullets or fragments of shrapnel in the fighting that cracked Hitler's fortress. Lt.-Col. G. M. Beaton of Edmonton, a member of the Canadian Postal Corps in Northwest Europe, is back to confer with postal authorities.

OTTAWA, April 10.—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King said in a return tabled for George Black (PC, Yukon) that under the exchange of notes of June 23 and June 27, 1944, the Canadian government undertook to reimburse the United States government for construction of the telephone-telegraph-teletype line from Edmonton to the Alaska boundary, and the agreement provides that these facilities be relinquished to the Canadian government.

In reply to Mr. Black's question whether the Canadian government will consider linking these lines with its government telegraph system Mr. King said the question of the lines future use was under consideration and no statement could now be made.

Fight Five Years: Finally Find Out What War's About

WITH THE 1st CANADIAN ARMY, April 10.—(AP)—Two Tibetans learned yesterday what this war is all about—after having fought in it—on both sides—for five years.

They set out on a walking tour of Russia five years ago. Promptly they were picked up by Russian Army, captured by the Germans and thrust into the German army.

Through it all, because they could find no one able to speak Tibetan, they didn't know what nations were fighting, or why.

Then they were captured by Canadian troops whose linguists were baffled until someone finally found a sergeant who'd been to Tibet. He told them what goes on.

Berliners Near State of Panic Says Diplomat

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

STOCKHOLM, April 10.—(BUP)—A neutral diplomat arriving from Berlin said today that the moment is rapidly approaching when the people there will give way to panic.

Several panic demonstrations already have occurred at some places in Berlin, he said.

He described an incident in which a Hitler Youth at a local rationing office drew a revolver and threatened to shoot a woman and an elderly man awaiting ration cards but was struck and knocked down by a middle-aged man.

All diplomats except the Swedish legation staff have fled the city and even the Swedish staff have everything ready to evacuate, he said.

The diplomat said that existence in the city is almost unsupportable. He verified previous reports that after tomorrow only those with special permits may ride on Berlin local railroads, and added that a pail of water costs as much as 300 reichmarks.

Americans Land On Tsukata Isle

By FRANK TREMAINE

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

GUAM, April 10.—(BUP)—Tokyo said today that American troops have landed on Tsukata island controlling the entrance to nearly-conquered Nakagusuku Bay, naval anchorage in southeast Okinawa.

Other troops spearing along the shore of the bay on Okinawa advanced more than a mile and a half to Onaha, on the edge of Yonabaru airfield, and a mile and a half north of the port of Yonabaru itself, a Tokyo Domei agency broadcast says.

American destroyers and other warcraft already have entered Nakagusuku Bay, the broadcast said.

American sources were unable to confirm the reported east coast development, but said the greatest artillery duel of the Pacific was under way in the southwest coast sector as the 24th Army Corps stormed deeper into defences shielding the city of Naha.

Once Nakagusuku Bay has been cleared, the American command will have an excellent naval anchorage within easy striking range of the Japanese homeland and the China coast.

Gardiner Takes Pearkes to Task On Political Stand

OTTAWA, April 10.—(CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner tabled in the House of Commons yesterday a letter in which he replied to the Canadian Legion, Victoria branch, which had protested Mr. Gardiner's remarks regarding Maj. - Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, former Pacific coast commander.

Mr. Gardiner said the protest from the Legion branch had expressed "disgust and contempt" In replying, Mr. Gardiner wrote that he had high regard for Gen. Pearkes' military career "but when he allows his name to be suggested as an opponent of another soldier who is now serving overseas and does not deny the rumor, I would like to ask on what grounds do you take sides?"

OPPOSE LIBERAL

Mr. Gardiner wrote that at the time of Gen. Pearkes' retirement he was telephoned by reporters who told him a dispatch from Vancouver suggested the general would run as an opponent to Lt.-Col. Alan Chambers, Liberal member of parliament for Nanaimo, B.C., in the forthcoming federal elections.

(When Gen. Pearkes left his command it was reported he would run as a Progressive Conservative candidate in Nanaimo. Authoritative sources in the capital yesterday confirmed that he would seek the party nomination in Nanaimo).

Mr. Gardiner expressed the opinion Gen. Pearkes should have denied that February suggestions he was to run against Col. Chambers. The latter was tabled following questions from Hon. Dr. H. A. Bruce (PC—Toronto Parkdale) who had asked for production of letters dealing with Gen. Pearkes' retirement and with charges by Mr. Gardiner that the general had acted in the interests of the Progressive Conservative party.

TO BE TABLED

Douglas Abbott, parliamentary assistant to Defence Minister McNaughton, said production of documents entailed lengthy search but these would be tabled as soon as possible. At this point Mr. Gardiner tabled the exchange between himself and the Victoria Legion branch.

Col. Chambers was a personal friend and Mr. Gardiner wrote that he asked reporters what the general had to say about the report and was told the general declined to comment.

Mr. Gardiner's letter continued: "I replied: 'in that case I know of no reason why he should not run; he has been acting as a Tory since he came back from overseas. He might just as well run for them.'

DENIAL EXPECTED

"In my opinion Gen. Pearkes should have denied immediately and without qualification these suggestions that he was going to run against a brother officer who is now and has been since 1940 serving overseas.

"I then suggested that a number of Pacific Command officers in public statements had done more than any others to encourage men to go absent without leave. This is a matter of opinion which has been strengthened since I made the statement.

"My other reference to rumors to the effect members in the Pacific Command were being advised to compel the government to conscript them made no reference to Gen. Pearkes.

"My opinion, based on several experiences, is that whether he did it intentionally or without knowing it has acted in the interests of the Conservative party. As a matter of fact I think he will agree himself that he had been opposed to government policy on more than one count and that he has not hesitated to make his opposition known."

OFFICERS CONCERNED

After Dr. Bruce had urged the production of all the documents, Slate Secretary McLarty said that the question dealt not only with Gen. Pearkes but with all his officers in the Pacific Command.

"Under these circumstances I think the honorable member and the house will readily realize that it involves looking over a large number of files, not only here but at headquarters of the Pacific Command."

Dr. Bruce said the correspondence was all on file and whether it related to Gen. Pearkes or his officers was immaterial.

Mr. McLarty said Dr. Bruce's original question was not thus limited and referred also to information.

Dr. Bruce repeated his questions and said they could be answered at once.

"It is all humbug to say that you require a longer time," he added.

Mr. McLarty said that Dr. Bruce should assume that every department of government was acting "in perfectly good faith and to suggest that it is a matter of humbug when the preparation of the return involves a tremendous amount of work and going through a large number of files is surely not worthy of the honorable member for Parkdale."

Dr. Bruce said he had repeatedly asked questions last session and had received no reply. Some of these were addressed to Veterans Minister Mackenzie.

Mr. Mackenzie replied that he was ready with the replies on the last day of the session "but he (Dr. Bruce) did not find it convenient to remain here and went home".

Dr. Bruce said he was in the house to receive the replies but they were not produced.

There were cries of order from all sides of the house.

At the night sitting Mr. Abbott said the return would not include any correspondence exchanged between Defence Minister McNaughton and Gen. Pearkes and any other senior officers. All letters were marked confidential and under government policy were considered privileged and would not be made public.

3 Dead, 16 Hurt In Plane Crash

ST. HYACINTHE, Que, April 10.—(CP)—Three persons were killed and 16 injured, two critically, when a Lancaster of the RAF transport command crashed into a field at nearby St. Simon late yesterday.

One of those killed was a civilian on the ground who was electrocuted as he attempted to reach the plane, which burned after hitting the ground. Of the 18 persons—11 passengers and seven crew members—in the plane, two were killed outright and two others are in critical conditions. The remaining 14 all suffered injuries from which they are expected to recover.

First reports placed the death toll at four, but the RAFTC announced later that only two of the plane's occupants had been killed.

It is understood that all persons involved in the crash were employees of the Royal Air Force transport command. Names have been withheld pending notification of next-of-kin.

Disabled Vets Seen as Asset To Industry

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que., April 10.—(CP)—The disabled veteran was pictured as an asset rather than a liability to industry by Walter S. Woods, deputy minister of Veterans' Affairs, in an address today to the reassimilation conference.

Mr. Woods quoted figures from a recent survey covering 100 of the larger employers of disabled workmen in the United States.

"Two-thirds of them found the disabled workman as efficient as the normal worker and 24 per cent reported that the disabled had higher productivity, 85 per cent reported that the disabled had better work habits than the ordinary work force, were less liable to absenteeism, etc. As to industrial accident records, 51 per cent found their accident record the same and 47 per cent found that the accident record of the handicapped was better than that of the ordinary worker. Only two per cent found their accident record was worse."

GIVES ILLUSTRATION

"As an illustration, an air-gunner suffering the loss of one arm comes to us. If we concentrate on his disability we begin to search for jobs that a one-armed man can do. This leads us to such jobs as elevator operator or watchman or perhaps a bookkeeper.

"If, on the other hand, we forget for the moment his disability and search for his ability we may find he has a good knowledge of aircraft, landing and take-off speeds, or radio and wireless processes, visual communication, an elementary knowledge of meteorology, quick-wittedness, a sense of responsibility and perhaps a desire to remain associated with the aircraft industry.

"These abilities readily combine into the requirements for airport control officer in the control tower of a large civilian airport. The loss of an arm is immaterial here."

Eighth Army Opens Attack Against Nazis

danger German strongholds upstream along the Senio into the northern Apennines, and the comparatively easy manner in which bridgeheads were established, together with the display of an Allied material superiority, suggested that the 25 German divisions, plus six Italian Fascist divisions estimated to be in Italy would not be able to withstand the pounding for long.

The attack came after Field Marshal Albert Kesselring, expert in delaying tactics, had been called to take charge of the Germans' western front. His place is reported to have been taken by Col.-Gen. Freidrich Von Veitinghoff, credited with a leading role in constructing the defences of Cassino.

Ahead, however, lay tough going for the British tackling what apparently is meant to be the last battle for northern Italy.

Much of the terrain is swampy and interlaced with canals and ditches.

The combined might of the RAF and U.S. 15th and 12th Air Forces was thrown into an aerial onslaught yesterday intended to obliterate elaborate German defences thrown up on the west bank of the river for a considerable depth.

YANKS OPEN DRIVE

Americans on the Allied 5th Army sector were also on the offensive, with the U.S. 473rd Infantry Regiment, operating with the 92nd Division, fighting its way into the southern outskirts of Massa against growing enemy resistance.

The British troops had slightly less than a mile to go beyond the Senio to reach Lugo, 13½ miles west of Ravenna.

The terrific saturation bombing at first reports appeared to exceed even the devastation wrought at Cassino in the great assault of 1944.

Ask Definite Plans

Urge Government Take Steps To Ensure Jobs for All Vets

By GLADYS LENNON

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que., April 10.—(CP)—A resolution recommending that the federal government "developing procedures" which would encourage employers to absorb servicemen who were not employed before enlistment was passed unanimously at the Reassimilation Conference today.

While the conference was unanimous on the resolution so far as it went, a naval representative said he thought it did not go far enough. It would not be much reassurance to the lads in the services, who were looking for something more definite. What was needed, he said, was that the government should "announce, as soon as possible, concrete proposals for ensuring full employment".

The conference, which opened yesterday and will conclude tomorrow, is attended by representatives of large Canadian industrial firms and government departments. Proceedings consist of informal discussion groups and a limited number of set addresses.

FORESEES SURPLUS

A surplus of 710,000 to 800,000 workers in Canada following demobilization was forecast by E. R. Complin of Montreal in an address to the conference on technical considerations and their effect on industry's ability to reassimilate.

Asking where additional jobs were to be found, Mr. Complin said it was a common error to "speak as though the manufacturing industry was going to provide full post-war employment—at least 800,000 new jobs, mark you, more than twice the number of jobs it provided in 1939. We shall be suckers if we let this misunderstanding thrive. Also we shall be suckers if we do not do our share."

Mr. Complin estimated that a fair share for the manufacturing industry which employed 19 per cent of the gainfully occupied in 1939, might be about 50 per cent of the surplus, or 400,000 additional jobs.

On the bright side of the picture, Mr. Complin saw possibilities of further development of the country's natural resources by primary industry and government-backed initiative. Also was the shift to the week and extension of the vacation-with-pay principle would also help to provide more jobs.

Koenigsberg, last German stronghold in East Prussia, fell after a 76-day siege. Moscow said Colonel-General Lass and his staff surrendered at 9:30 o'clock last night following a terrific two-day assault that breached the city's last defences and netted 42,000 prisoners.

Concern Expressed For Vets Jobless

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que., April 10.—(CP)—Deep concern for the future of servicemen who were not employed before enlistment was expressed by business executives attending the reassimilation conference here yesterday.

One businessmen described this group as "the problem in the toughest spot of all." He inquired whether figures were available on the numbers of such men in the services and what was being done to ensure their rehabilitation in civil life.

A committee was appointed to draw up a resolution to be presented to a later session.

HOW TO RELIEVE PILE TORTURE QUICKLY AND EASILY

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become serious. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be started at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Rold from Mervin Drug Stores or any druggist and use as directed. This formula which is used internally in a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender parts. Hem-Rold is pleasant to take, is higher recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Rold and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money.

Reserve Army Cannot Call Up 18-Year-Olds

OTTAWA, April 10.—(CP)—Douglas Abbott, parliamentary assistant to Defence Minister McNaughton, described today as "unauthorized" and "unjustified" a letter sent yesterday to several secondary school principals in this district instructing that male students more than 18 must enlist in reserve army units.

Meantime, Brig. F. Logie Armstrong, officer commanding Military District No. 3, said in a long distance telephone interview from his headquarters at Kingston, Ont., that the letter contained "nothing new" and was "just a question of drawing to the attention of all schools what is really the law of he land."

MUST BE TRAINED

Brig. Armstrong said that a boy of 18 must belong to an officers' training corps or come in some way under military control as a "designated person." He was to do so as the district officer commanding sees fit," he added.

"All the letter did was to draw attention to the regulations, to interpret them", Brig. Armstrong continued. "The regulations say that a boy must begin training at 18. He becomes a designated person at 18. The letter was only issued the other day but the regulations are more than a year old.

"You know how it is. Some of these schools get slack. We are just jacking them up."

In Ottawa, Mr. Abbott said there was "nothing in the regulations to authorize" the letter. An officer could "urge" young men to join the reserve army but could do nothing beyond that.

"CAN'T BE CALLED"

"Young men are not being called up for the reserve army—they can't be", he said, adding:

"It is always possible that an officer can be too zealous."

He said there was "no justification" for the letter, which he also described as "unauthorized".

Arthur MacNamara, director of National Selective Service, commented: "we are not calling anybody to the reserve army".

20,000 Brides

LONDON, April 10.—(CP)—British wives of American soldiers are receiving free transportation to the United States, and about 20,000 of them are eligible for the trip, U.S. army officers said yesterday. Their children also are transported free. Some 200 already have made the Atlantic crossing.

Court Procedure Being Challenged

CALGARY, April 10.—(CP)—A practice common in Alberta police magistrates' courts — delaying by defence counsel of election regarding type of trial until a preliminary inquiry has already been completed—was challenged in Alberta appeal court here yesterday.

Judgment was reserved on the question, seen as having potentially widespread effects on police court procedure, particularly in Calgary where some criminal lawyers habitually wait until police evidence is completed before deciding whether to take summary trial for their clients or go to a higher court.

The issue was raised by Harold W. Riley, counsel for Lauri Seuvo who was convicted by Magistrate D. C. Sinclair and sentenced to 18 months at hard labor on a charge of theft of $1,100 during a hotel room party.

Indicating that if he fails in his argument on the kinetic point of law he will ask for adjournment to bring an orthodox appeal before the court, Mr. Riley claimed Seuvo had not been properly tried and should be remanded to supreme criminal court for decision on the case.

Gardens or Weeds?

Gardening time is near enough that city dwellers who are not so fortunate as to have plots would do well to look about for vacant lots which they can cultivate. The situation in regard to city-owned lots is complicated this year because these are in keen demand by parties wanting to buy them for home sites. So keen that the lots are leased for gardening purposes subject to the city's right to sell and the buyer's right to take possession. Lots owned privately can probably in many cases be rented only on the same terms.

This makes it more than usually urgent for the would-be gardener to do his lot-hunting as early as possible. It will be unfortunate if any should be discouraged by the uncertainty of tenure and abandon the idea of making a garden at all. Both the city and private lot owners are under some moral obligation to take that possibility into account, and do what they can to provide that buyers shall recognize a renter's right to harvest the crop he plants.

One thing the city council can do is warn owners that if they leave vacant lots uncultivated they will have to keep them clear of weeds, waste papers and other rubbish. The city would of course have to conform to the ruling in respect to its own vacant lots.

If the law were laid down plainly on this point now, owners would be under some pressure to either garden their vacant lots or let others do so under guarantee that they would not be disturbed until harvest-time. Edmonton is not wanting in vacant lots. It will be tragic if many of these lie idle all summer because no one dare plant gardens on them.

Away From Europe

Of the 2,169,868,000 people living in the world today, about 1,619,000,000 will be represented by their delegates at the San Francisco conference. Following is an approximate tabular picture of the representation:

| | (Millions) |
|---|---|
| Total world poplation | 2170 |
| Big Three represent | 896 |
| Big Five represent | 1381 |
| Europeans represented | 102 |
| American nations represented | 259 |
| Middle East | 74 |

These figures will not add up correctly, so far as totals are concerned, because the tabulations overlap. That is to say, some nations are shown both in the Big Three and in the Big Five. Britain, too, is not listed with the Europeans because her viewpoint is not continental European.

If Argentina is excluded from the conference, the excluded neutrals will represent 57 million population. The enemy peoples represent 232 million people, not including the subject peoples, such as the Koreans.

The most significant fact revealed by a study of these figures is the noteworthy shifting of political power away from continental Europe. In point of fact, there are two and a half times many non-Europeans represented as Europeans.

This could be interpreted as being one of the most wholesome signs of the times. For continental Europe has been the cyclone centre of the world. And the shifting of the political centre of gravity from this area can only give healthy results.

Free Speech

The news columns record the conviction of a former American soldier who has been sentenced in New Orleans to 20 years in prison for making uncomplimentary remarks about President Roosevelt.

There is no desire to quarrel with the sentence. Mischievous malcontents can and do cause a great deal of trouble. And a heavy penalty of this kind may quite admirably put a brake on stupid and malicious talk.

But one does find oneself thinking back to the attitude of many Americans who came to Edmonton earlier in the war and displayed a tendency (quite courteous, of course) to commiserate with Canadians on the limitations of their liberty.

While such discussions were usually kept within the bounds of good taste, there was a general tendency on the part of our United States guests to feel a little sorry for those of us who did not enjoy the freedom of the American republic.

And while still commending the justice and effectiveness of this 20 year sentence, one is moved to point out that no one has yet been sent to jail for blackguarding Mr. Mackenzie King. Indeed, Britishers have been given much less severe penalties for taking potshots at English monarchs.

Ready to Take Over

Governing machinery has already been built which will take over in Germany as soon as the fighting stops, in the names of Britain, the United States, Russia and France. It may take over even before the fighting stops everywhere, if Hitler can muster a force strong enough to make a prolonged stand in the Bavarian mountains.

The organization is military in character, but so constructed that it can be turned into a civilian administration commission—when military authority is no longer required. There is nothing to suggest that prospective civilian appointees will need to throw up their present jobs and get ready to take on the new duties for several years; probably they won't be required until the generation of young Nazis has grown grey or bald.

Pre-construction of the governing machinery is an act of kindness to the German people. Power is to pass immediately from the army leaders to the governors, without any interval of no-authority during which lawlessness could spread, the strong strike down the weak, private feuds break out, and pandemonium reign. Non-Nazi Germans should be grateful to the Allies for this forethought on their behalf.

It would of course be absurd to pretend that this is the primary object in planning ahead the orderly administration of the affairs of the country. The first consideration is to make Germany safe for the neighbor states, and for that a long period of "protective custody" will be required. But, incidentally, in preserving order and encouraging a return to peaceful aims, the military government will also safeguard the lives of Germans against whom the Nazis cherish a hatred which would undoubtedly explode in wholesale violence if occasion offered.

Floods along the Mississippi have driven people from their homes and made it advisable to evacuate others, to the total number of 85,000. In Canada we are fortunate in that all our large rivers flow between high banks, reducing flood danger and damage to relatively small proportions.

The Argentine government has decreed confiscation of all property there belonging to the German and Japanese states, and ordered a general round-up of diplomatic and consular officials of those countries. The authorities at Buenos Aires seem to have decided at last that it is safe to stop kowtowing to Hitler and Hirohito.

Case for Conscription in Peace

Preparedness Should Be Studied If Wars To Be Avoided

By P. C. RAWLING
In The Vancouver Province

I remember when I came home from the last war that I thought it would have been a good thing if they had let us keep our rifles. I go back to that recollection as I listen to the great debate now going forward in the United States on the subject of universal military training.

Of course there was no idea of letting us keep our rifles after the last war and I may say at once that I found very little agreement anywhere for my general proposition that the citizen should be a man trained in the use of arms and in possession of arms.

But I am also reminded in all candor that very few indeed of my fellow returned men seemed to have the slightest sympathy with the idea that we should hold on to our rifles—in case we might have to use them again.

It is doubtful if you can prove very much one way or the other on this subject by the attitude of returned men, especially just-returned men. Men commonly came back from that war as they have come back from war in every century of the human story and as they will assuredly come back from this one.

They will come back disgusted and sick at heart of all the business of war, of the mud and misery and the knowledge and the fear of death, of what it means that men must learn before their natural time the lesson that they were born to die.

And, what is somewhat relevant to these presents, men will come home from war in that state of mind whether they went to it as volunteers (as most of us did to the last war) or as drafted conscripts.

Nor can you probably get very far in this argument—although you can certainly have a fine Donnybrook on your hands by it—by enquiring who it is that is generally most vehement and most voluble against the idea that the citizen should be trained to arms in time of peace, in order that the nation may be better prepared for war, if it comes, when it comes.

It seems to be true, for what it is worth, that the same people—the same sort of people and literally many of the same—who are against any sort of preparation for another war were also against any sort of preparation for this one.

It is wonderful what a difference a few years, and a few victories, can make. Do you remember, out of the angry shock of the morrow of Pearl Harbor, the almost universal cry of "Never again"? Probably, if there had been a quick way of doing it then, you could have written universal military training into the Constitution of the United States.

Still there is no difference between now and then in the plain meaning of Pearl Harbor. It was no more and no less than that Japan hoped not merely to catch the United States unprepared—which she did—but also to exploit a swift act of treachery in the making of a knockout victory in the first round.

And it is still probably true—although it is incapable of proof—that if all the expectation, treacherous and extravagant and exultant, expressed in the act of Pearl Harbor had been realized, then either the Allies would have had to sue for peace in the Pacific or we should have been compelled to hold on in unimaginable peril and hardship in a war of sheer attrition that might have lasted for 20 years.

The opponents of universal military training are fond of the argument that "conscription never prevented a war." It is the sort of argument that proves too much or too little. The converse on the other side is that it can not be demonstreated that conscription ever caused a war, either.

The simple moral of Pearl Harbor would still seem to be entirely valid in this debate. What the Japanese hoped to exploit by Pearl Harbor was the military unpreparedness of the United States. The prime factor of that unpreparedness was the lack of a great national military force trained to arms and ready for war.

It would be better to keep this argument out of the boundless region of the intangibles. How much real practical politics is there in saying, as the anti-conscriptionists do, that you can not believe in the possibility of organized and enduring peace as long as you prepare for a state of war?

Once more you prove too much or too little by such vague generalizations. The simple answer to them all is that, as long as there is not merely a doubt of lasting peace but also the strong possibility of more war, it is folly not to be prepared.

And this war ought to have shown us at least that universal national service in war, according to the capacity of the citizen, is the only equitable and the only effective way, or the lack of this policy, for the refusal to have such a policy, Britain and the United States had practically to start from scratch, after the outbreak of war, against an enemy that had been preparing for seven years.

We were seven years behind time in the ability to make this war. You can do some interesting sums in the arithmetic of this war's prolongation, based upon that statement of fact.

Make Your Closets Attractive

Requires Only Few Hours Work and Very Little Money

By MARY ALICE QUAYNE

These spring breezes have made me conscious of my closets especially when they have been denuded and their contents dancing on the back line.

I have found that a closet is the most wonderful opportunity to indulge in all of the interior decorating tricks that might be just a little too daring for other spots in the house. And even without knowing the fine points of decorating, it is fun to paint and paper and tack.

The surprising thing to me when I turned my closet into a bright little spot was that it took only a few hours of fascinating work and very little money.

In decorating a closet, first clear it completely. If walls are smooth plaster or plasterboard, paint makes a satisfactory coating. If there is a window in the closet, color hardly matters, but for a dark and dismal closet, bright walls are a must. The color scheme will depend upon that of the adjoining room. Either pick up the predominant color or make an interesting contrast.

If the walls are cracked and have been mended cover them with figured wallpaper. Choose it to match the bedroom or a design that is similar to that of the draperies.

Don't forget about the part of the closet underfoot. Whether the floor is painted hardwood or covered with linoleum, a coat of wax will simplify cleaning. And if the floor is a light color, it will fascilitate the hunt for lost pins and odds and ends.

After the walls are painted or papered, the fun begins. For the accessories are where clever touches will make the biggest splash. Hatboxes may be covered in harmonizing or contrasting colors and materials. If you like to keep some of your clothes such as knitted suits and sweaters in boxes, then cover a dress box or two to match the hatboxes.

Best dresses and garments that aren't worn often are best protected by keeping them in garment bags. Very simple bags can be made to match the shoe bag and hatbox coverings. The bag should be long enough to allow for dresses of different lengths. For a special touch, cover wooden clothes hangers with scraps left from garment bags or with velveteen. Padded hangers help to keep shoulders shapely.

Not only are shoes hard to find if they are strewn over the closet floor, but they become dusty and dirty. Shoe bags are very simple to make and are most effective if made from the same material used to cover the hat and dress boxes. The shoe bag may be tacked to the inside of the closet door. Or make a rack for shoes by using two old curtain rods of different lengths or two towel racks of different lengths. The lower one should extend out farther than the upper one.

The finishing touch to closet decoration is the shelves. And perhaps perking them up is all that your closet needs to make it gay and attractive.

Shelves can be covered with shelf paper or plain-colored chintz. Choose colors that harmonize with room colors or the color scheme in the closet. Cut the top piece of material the shelf width plus three inches for a hanging edge. Scallop this edge. Then cut another piece the same length and an inch wider than the first, of the contrasting color and scallop, and tack to the edge of the shelf. Fold the top piece over the wider edging and tack.

Or you can tack inexpensive, heavy cotton lace to the shelf edge for a quaint effect. Or simple, inexpensive ball fringe will give a custom-made finish to a closet shelf.

An electric light in the ceiling of the closet, with a light switch at the side, or in an extension cord that may be turned on when the door is opened saves annoyance and time. If it is impossible to have a permanent light, a flashlight hanging on a hook just inside the door will be of assistance in finding things in a hurry.

Cards with descriptions of contents may be slipped into card holders at the front of the boxes, and tags may be attached to the forward shoulders of garment bags for quick identification.

And last but not least to keep moths from closets or to kill them if they have gained admittance, put moth spray over the garments and into the crevices of the closet.

And Now Vienna Is Under Fire

By J. H. GRAY

In the fabulously beautiful parks of Vienna, the lilacs are bursting their buds to the accompaniment of the deafening roar of Russian siege guns. Gunfire and siege are not new for Vienna. The lilacs came to Vienna first with an invading Turkish army. Planted there, they bloomed magnificently until presently the whole of Europe was filled in spring with the sweet perfume of lilacs in bloom.

Periodically, for 2,000 years, the streets of Vienna have echoed the tramp of martial feet. Armed invaders have come from east and west but the marks they have left have been as ephemeral as snow upon a desert. It has been the age-long pilgrimages of peaceful invaders to the cultural capital of the world, to the world's most beautiful city, to the imperial city of the realm of ideas that have made Vienna great.

When London was but a rude collection of traders' huts along the Thames, when Berlin was a mud village in the Prussian wilderness, when Leningrad was still a swamp, Vienna was a thriving metropolis. It was to Vienna that the noblest Roman of them all, Marcus Aurelius, went to die in 180 A.D. Here it was, according to legend, that Charlemagne established St. Stephen's cathedral where Crusaders worshipped en route to the Holy Land. Here it was that the German epic poems, the Niebelungen and the Gudrun, were composed. This was the place that Henry Jasomirgott chose for the capital of Austria in 1137. Here the Habsburgs ruled for more than 600 years, from Albert to Maria Theresa to Franz Joseph. From Vienna went Marie Antoinette to become Queen of France, from Vienna went Marie Louise as bride of Napoleon and successor to Josephine.

An imperial city, yes; but Vienna was something more. It was the city of song, the city of science, the city of independent spirit and joy of living which found its only description in its own word—gemuthlich. It was the one city in all the world which was all things to all men.

It was to Vienna, through the ages, that young architects went to study the museum pieces of the masters—the Hofburg palace which dated in part from the thirteenth century; the Gothic cathedral of St. Stephen dating back in its restoration to the fourteenth century; the eighth century church of St. Ruprecht; the seventeenth century university; the magnificent city hall, the Opera house and the Votive church which is the exact model of New York's famed St. Patrick's cathedral.

Music? Here lived and studied the great and the near-great. Vienna has been the home of Beethoven, Mozart, Gluck, Haydn, Brahms, Wagner, Schubert, Suppe and the Strausses. No city could challenge Vienna's claim to the most music-loving of all cities; Vienna with her hundreds of music schools, her scores and scores of musical societies, her shrines where the greatest composers did their greatest work.

Before the great Nazi blight settled over Vienna, it was one of the world's great medical centres. To Vienna from all over the world, from New York, Chicago, Winnipeg and Edmonton, from Paris, London, Moscow and Rio de Janeiro, went doctors to take post-graduate courses, particularly specialized courses on eye, ear, nose and throat.

In Vienna, too, before that blight, lived the great Sigmund Freud whose trail-blazing work in the study of the subconscious mind gained world recognition and opened great new vistas for medical science. But Freud was a Jew and his great books served only to feed the bonfires of the new barbarism that swept Europe. The Viennese, who knew greatness when they encountered it, conferred the freedom of their city on Sigmund Freud as a present for his seventieth birthday in 1926.

What made Vienna great? Many qualities, no doubt, of which the greatest were love of freedom and faith in themselves. It was the Viennese, in 1683 who stopped the Turkish flood from sweeping into Europe along the Danube. Behind their thick city walls, they stood off a siege which cost thousands of Viennese lives, but saved their city. Though Vienna was the capital of the Habsburg empire and the base of the Unholy Alliance, the Viennese did not suffer tyrants gladly. Time and again the troops had to be called in to quell the stubborn burghers of the town.

When, as the years passed and Vienna became secure, the walls that had saved the city from the Turks were torn out. In its place was built the famed Ringstrasse. They poured millions into the construction of this magnificently treed boulevard and around it put up great buildings of awesome beauty. Almost a century ago they spent seven million dollars on a city hall that is the most magnificent in all Europe.

With such streets of incomparable beauty, the Viennese have naturally preferred to use them for pleasure: to sit around the sidewalk tables and drink wine and sing as only the Viennese can sing. Out of this love of their city and their love of gay music, came that word—gemuthlich. But while it describes their joy of living, it has never had connotations of softness or weakness. Underneath that cloak of gaiety there is a toughness of character which has fooled many a despot.

That toughness erupted in violent rebellion against the Habsburgs and later against Dolfuss. Yet when the Nazis tried to take over Vienna by the assassination of Dolfuss they found the Vinnese too hard a nut to crack. The Viennese turned on their native Nazis and it was only when the Germans sent their armies in that Vienna bowed to the Nazis.

After the panzers came fat Hermann Goering to establish his great munition plants and to round up the Austrians to fight with the Germans. And they fought for Hitler. The trying period between the wars, with their recurrent crises, had drained some of the iron from the fibre of Austria. Yet it would be a miracle if the last seven years have not opened the eyes of the people of Vienna and made many of them aware of the real enemies of civilization. The Allies have neither expected nor received help in their endeavors from civilian Germany. But unless the Germans in seven years have destroyed the spirit of Vienna there will be helping hands extended to the Russians as they move in on this city which so truly belongs to the world.

No Return to Nations' League

By GRANT DEXTER

The post-war organizations proposed in the Dumbarton Oaks charter divide themselves naturally into two parts. In this regard the break with the old League is sharp and clean.

The task of keeping the peace is given to a Security Council, to be set up under the Dumbarton Oaks charter. That is about all that the Council will have to do. This general statement, however, may be subject to one extremely important qualification. It is this: The peace terms which will be imposed on Germany and Japan will not, as in 1919, be tied to the future world organization. Certainly in an immediate sense the Security Council will have no part in the making or in the enforcement of the peace treaties. The victors who make the peace will enforce it. The purpose is to see to it that neither of these countries ever again causes war.

As the statement after the Yalta conference made clear, Germany—and doubtless Japan—will be occupied when hostilities cease. They will be controlled until they are deemed fit to qualify as members of the world organization, even though this may mean continuous occupation for many years. The power to enforce the peace terms on the defeated nations is to be provided not under Dumbarton Oaks but under separate treaties to be negotiated between the nations concerned, chiefly Russia, the United Kingdom, the United States and France.

Whatever may be said against this procedure, it is claimed for it that, at a single stroke, many difficulties will be cut through. It will be recalled that upon the insistence of President Wilson, the 1919 peace terms and the Covenant were joined in a single document. President Wilson was intent upon launching a new world order based upon the Covenant. He insisted that pre-1919 international organizations should cease to operate as such and begin life anew under the aegis of the League. The grand alliance which had triumphed was, therefore, dissolved and the business of enforcing the peace was turned over to the League Assembly and Council and such commissions and bodies as they might set up. It has always been argued that while the purpose was excellent, the results were tragic. The rule of unanimity shackled the League, even if it had received the endorsation of the United States. But in the results, the League was unable to do what the great powers in a continuing military alliance might have done.

This time, the victorious powers will continue their alliance for the declared purpose of enforcing the peace. The assumed advantages are as follows: It is regarded as extremely difficult to obtain the sanction of the United States Senate for any treaty which places the armed forces of that country at the disposal of an international body. This is what President Roosevelt is presumed to have had in mind when he remarked a few weeks ago that he had had to explain the United States constitution many times at Yalta. Under the constitution only Congress can declare war. But if the armed forces of the nation were placed under the control of an international body, with them would go this power. This difficulty is apparent in the Dumbarton Oaks text. But it also explains, in great part, the decision to divorce the peace treaties from the charter. Congress is assumed to be prepared to commit these forces to the enforcement of the peace terms on Germany and Japan.

It is in these terms that the Dumbarton Oaks charter and the Yalta statement are now being construed in the United States. The enforcement of the peace settlements is to be separate and distinct from the Security Council. The clause in the charter which warrants this interpretation is Chapter 12, subsection 2: "No provision of the charter should preclude action taken or authorized in relation to enemy states as a result of the present war of the governments having responsibility for such action." Another provision which supports this view will become evident as the powers of the Council are examined.

The Security Council is to deal with all threats to peace and will consist of 11 members. There will be five great powers with permanent seats—the United Kingdom, the United States, Russia, China and France. There will be six non-permanent members who will be elected from time to time by the Assembly. Leaving aside, for the moment, the functions and the constitution of the Council, it is true to say that each of the great powers reserves the right to veto any decision involving repressive measures even where it is itself a party to a dispute. There is, also, in the charter provision for regional "arrangements or agencies" to deal with matters relating to "peace and security."

Against this background, the arguments in support of Dumbarton Oaks now being widely advanced in the United States become understandable. It is being said that there is nothing in the charter of which Congress need be wary. The armed forces of the United States will be committed by Congress to the enforcement of the peace terms on Germany and Japan. As these countries will be occupied, these forces will be under the control of the United States government. Other threats to peace will in practically all cases be dealt with by regional bodies operating under the general supervision of the Security Council. Why should the United States shrink from a regional commitment which would be in harmony with the Monroe doctrine? And as for the Security Council, the extent of the commitment will be extremely small and, in any event, there is always the veto right. The Council could not act without the approval of Washington and no government would ever agree to the use of United States forces by the Council unless assured by the support of Congress. It costs money to operate armed forces, and the very smallness of the commitment to the Council would be a guarantee that Congress—which must vote supply—could not be ignored.

No doubt, when viewed in this larger setting, the proposed Council does not cut much of a figure. It is to be remembered, however, that the occupation of enemy countries will come to an end some day. When it does, the importance of the Council will be enhanced. In any event, institutions often do not develop according to plan. What happened after 1919 is a case in point.

KING INSPECTS CAVALRY

SOMEWHERE IN SOUTHERN ENGLAND. — (CP) — The Household Cavalry, troopers who in plumed helmets and shining breastplates escorted the King in peacetime ceremonies, gave His Majesty a wartime escort of four armored cars, four scout cars and eight motorcyclists when he inspected two of their composite regiments.

The American Senate

From the London New Statesman and Nation

Since each state of the union elects two senators, irrespective of its size, the constitutional provision that a treaty requires a two-thirds majority of the senators present at the time of voting may mean that 33 senators, representing a twelfth of the American people, can block a treaty supported by 63, representing the other eleven-twelfths. A senator from Nevada, with little more than 100,000 inhabitants, is for this purpose as influential as a senator from New York, with 13,000,000. In 1920, the Versailles treaty actually received a majority vote, but it was short by seven of the majority required by law. The Senate, moreover, does not necessarily reflect public opinion in the same way as the lower House; it is influenced more by questions of prestige, by personal issues between senators and president, by the desire to strike as good a bargain as possible over matters of patronage in exchange for support for the president's policy. In any case, since it is most unusual for one party to possess a two-thirds majority, the successful passage of a treaty requires an exceptionally high sense of public interest from a number of minority members who must vote for it—and against their party—if it is to go through.

Thinks Sabotage Caused Ship Blast

VANCOUVER, April 10.—(CP)—J. P. Hughes, deck guard, on the S.S. Greenhill Park, when she blew up in Vancouver harbor March 6, yesterday told the Royal Commission inquiring into the blast that he thought sabotage was the only possible cause of the disaster in which eight men lost their lives. The guard said that he had seen no suspicious characters around the vessel and that all who had boarded while she was docked in Vancouver had bona fide passes.

Order Tugs

OTTAWA, April 10.—(CP)—The munitions department announced last night that orders have been placed for six additional ocean-going tugs for the British ministry of war transport at a cost of approximately $400,000 each.

Coast Shipyard To Close Down

VANCOUVER, April 10.—(CP)—Burrard South shipyard will close here the end of this year, Dan Dalrymple, superintendent of the yard, announced yesterday. Number of men employed at Burrard will decrease steadily so that by the time the last vessel is launched only 800 will be working in the yard, Mr. Dalrymple said. At present there are 1,800 men employed in the yard.

Rigid Quarantine

PARIS, April 10.—(AP)—A rigid quarantine was imposed on all Germany beyond the Rhine yesterday to prevent typhus, now reported in 58 different Reich areas, from spreading westward into France and the Low Countries.

Expect No War

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—(AP)—The Japanese agency Domei said yesterday in a dispatch datelined Singapore that there was "no immediate prospect" of war between Japan and Russia and added: "On the other hand relations between the two countries have been as cordial as could be expected".

Name Nazi Field Marshals

Place Blame For Atrocities

By ROMNEY WHEELER

LONDON, April 10.—(AP)—Two Wehrmacht field marshals and 86 other Germans were named responsible for the death of 577,000 persons in concentration camps in Latvia and the deportation of 175,000 others as slave labor in a report last night by a Soviet investigating committee.

Field Marshals Von Model and Schoerner, army group commanders, were blamed for the crimes. At least 170,000 civilians including women and children, were slaughtered in mass extermination camps near Riga, it was charged.

The report said: "In the central prison in Riga they murdered more than 2,000 children whom they had taken away from parents, and in Salaspils camp they killed more than 3,000 children."

"In the first and second psychiatric hospitals they killed all the mentally diseased," the report said, citing three instances in which German SS (Elite Guard) police removed a total of more than 2,450 mental defectives from the hospitals in 1942 and "shot all of them in Bikernik forest" on the outskirts of Riga.

Election Seen Late in June Or Early July

the house sat to the last moment of dissolution he would be free to stay and follow the delegation later.

The prime minister emphasized the necessity of an early election by pointing out how long a period the law fixes between an election day and the meeting of a new parliament.

Based on Mr. Castonguay's official letter, Mr. King, after quoting, that two months will elapse between dissolution, issuance of the writs and polling, went on:

"After the polling, it will take another two months before the last writ will come in, and a new parliament be summoned. It will take even longer than that because after the chief electoral officer has received the writs, he then has to notify the clerk of the house that the writs have been returned, thereby giving authority for a new parliament to be summoned.

"The minimum period required to summon a new parliament is at least seven days, and perhaps a little longer; and if there were delays in returning some of the writs, it would take still longer."

Translating all this into something like basic English, it means that if Mr. King fixed the election date, say on June 18, a week later than the minimum, it would take at least that amount before the new parliament could assemble.

PASS APPROPRIATIONS

The present short session is passing war appropriations for a five months period of the fiscal year beginning April 1 and ends for April, May, June, July and August.

Perhaps more important was the prime minister's emphasis that the business of the country had been attended to.

"It has been said by some honorable members," declared Mr. King, "that we are voting vast sums of money without much in the way of consideration. I would point out that we are not asking for anything in connection with a purpose which has not already been approved already; that we are not asking for anything the purpose of which has not been sanctioned already by this House of Commons in a previous session.

"Everyone agrees that the appropriation for the fiscal necessary and there we are taking as the basis what was found necessary during the corresponding period in the last fiscal year.

"With regard to supply for the government, we are simply asking for amounts corresponding with those voted last year to enable the government to carry on for the period of election. So it is not a case for the necessity to scrutinize payments, they have been scrutinized, they have been gone over."

Tax Exemptions Given Children May Be Dropped

such children, but it would also mean that to get benefit of the former income tax exemptions for children, families would have to apply for the children's allowances.

PERMITS EXEMPTIONS

The present Income Tax Act permits the exemptions of dependent children up to 18 years of age. Since the new Family Allowance Act provides for children's allowances only up to, but not including the age of 16, to abolish the income tax exemptions on children up to and including 18 years would work a hardship on families with children of ages 16, 17 and 18 years.

Accordingly it is stated that there may be also simultaneous amendments to the Family Allowance Act at this session to extend the rate of payments under it on dependent children up to 18 years, inclusive. This point The Bulletin is informed, is not fully definite.

There is still another problem involved in abolishing income tax exemptions on children—that is, wiping out all children's income tax exemptions.

MAJOR PAYMENTS

The present form of the Family Allowance Act is designed to allow the major payments only to the low bracket earners up to about $1,600 a year. That is the reason why the sections were embodied in the act providing that the children's allowances should be offset against income tax exemptions for children.

Under the present system where the tax exemptions are greater than the allowances, the taxpayer only receives the allowances gets only that portion of the income tax exemptions which is the difference between the family allowances and the income tax exemptions for that particular family.

Under the income tax exemptions for children vary according to income—the greater the income, the greater the exemptions, there is a point approximately at Brutto of $2,000 and $2,560 a year where the income tax exemptions and the family allowance balance—income earners over that line, generally speaking, receive no benefit from the allowances though they do not lose anything in paying for them.

PAYABLE TO ALL

Obviously, if the income tax exemptions for dependent children are wiped out, then the family allowances for children would be payable to all the 1,300,000 families in Canada with children regardless of income unless some arbitrary division were fixed on incomes above which family allowances would not be paid. But it is understood no such distinction is contemplated in the amendments.

In drafting the original Family Allowance Act more than a year ago, it was first contemplated that the children's allowances would be paid to all families in Canada regardless of income. The idea was to avoid difficult administrative problems that would arise—just as they are arising now in trying to segregate some 200,000 families in Canada with higher incomes which would offset the family allowances, from the total of 1,300,000 families with children.

So much confusion has already resulted in the public mind from press attempts to explain this complicated matter in simple language that consideration is now being given to wiping out all the income tax exemptions and making the children's allowances payable instead to all families with children.

METHOD IN BRITAIN

This method is followed in the new United Kingdom Family Allowance Act. In the United Kingdom, however, the act provides for taxing the family allowances as income so that, for example, an allowance for a child of five shillings is reduced to 3½ shillings. This method, it is understood, is not regarded favorably by the government for the proposed amendments.

TAXATION AND PROSPERITY

"Heavy taxation and national impoverishment have a definite affinity. Low taxation on the other hand has helped create the unparalleled record of progress and high living standards found on this continent. When taxation lessens initiative it must decrease the national chance of building a sound economic security.

"War has, of necessity, brought taxation to a point that would have been intolerable in times of peace. Its destructive forces in times of war are offset by the people's willingness to pay any price for victory. The situation will entirely change with the passing of that anxiety, and public antagonism to a heavy tax load will increase. When war ceases, the tax structure, as a result, must be revamped.

"... High taxation puts a premium on economic inaction."

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean
SPORTS EDITOR

BACK in Edmonton after close to a three-year stretch in the north, Les Larson says a six team hockey league operated very successfully in Whitehorse last winter, with play-offs 'n everything at the conclusion of the regular schedule.

"Of course we had no such luxuries as steam-heated arenas," explained Les. "But then four of the clubs had their own rinks, and there's never any worry about posts in those rectless affairs either."

RCMP, American Air Force, 10 CMU (branch of RCAF), Standard Oil, 5 SU (also RCAF) and Northwest Service Command were the teams. The 10 CMU squad wound up the schedule in first place and later played a semi-final series with RCMP who had finished fourth. 5 SU placed second and later eliminated Standard Oil team which had come third. The 10 CMU's beat 5 SU in the best-of-three final series.

Jack Carney, former EAC junior and member of the Arrows ball club—he'll be back at Renfrew Park again this summer—was on the Standard Oil lineup. Frankie (Cub) Bear, who played right wing for Canadian juniors in '42-43 and then joined the RC AF, performed at centre for the champion 10 CMU sextet.

Larson, with the NWSC special services at Whitehorse, also mentioned that curling is popular in that area. Whitehorse has a two-sheet rink and double draws every night solved the problem pretty well for the 18 rinks. Les, it will be recalled was manager of the Arrows baseball squad at the time he left for the north early in the '42 season. Dick Speer was coach that year and he also headed north before the end of the schedule.

GRAYSON AT CORNWALLIS

BOXING fans will remember Gordon Grayson, who lived in Edmonton prior to moving to Vancouver. He won the Dominion novice middleweight title at the tournament in the Arena here in 1938 and after going to the Pacific coast, was Golden Gloves champion three years in a row.

Gordon is now a petty officer in the Canadian Navy and is stationed at HMCS Cornwallis, where he is physical recreation and training instructor. In a letter to Cecil (Tiger) Goldstick, he gives considerable sports gossip from his part of the Maritimes.

Managing the rink was another chore for Grayson this winter and he says Jimmy Crockett, who used to handle the Arena here, did a grand job of ice-making. The Cornwallis team won the Halifax senior hockey title and beat Dartmouth three straight in the finals.

Bob Goldham, former Toronto Leaf, "Red" Gilbert and Bill Allum (Philadelphia) were on the Cornwallis lineup. There were 18 teams in the "ship's" own league.

Grayson had considerable to do in developing Phil Palmer, promising fighter from Vancouver, who has been cutting quite a wide swath in boxing circles in recent months. Palmer, who's real name is Felix Di Floma, fought in New York just a few days ago. Gordon himself was the leading middleweight in Western Canada when he joined the Navy almost five years ago.

READY TO GO. — Bill Bull, manager of the Arrows, says his baseball club is all set for another season. Most of last year's players are available. Arrows will sponsor a junior club this year.

Also Plan Junior Team

Dave Clayton Coach Of Arrows Ball Club

In addition to several new prospects, Arrows of the senior baseball league, have their 1944 roster almost intact, it was disclosed following Monday night's meeting of the club, his organization also is ready to field a junior team.

Dave Clayton has been named coach and workouts will commence just as soon as Renfrew Park is available. The new coach, formerly of Regina, has had several years' experience both as a player and in handling teams.

At last night's meeting were Vic Horner, president; Bill Bull, manager; Dave Clayton, coach, along with Bob Read, Elmer (Lefty) Thomas, Morris Hawkey, Bill Gauf, Nick Maskewich, Ed Gauf, Fred Lupul, Ken Samis, Des O'Connor, all members of the '44 club. Eddie Williams, Jim Kelly and "Ted" Samis, brother of Ken and several new prospects attended.

Appreciating the fact that junior ball should be encouraged, Arrows are fully prepared to field a team in any league which may be formed.

It had been suggested last week by the Recreation Commission that the four athletic clubs—Canadian, Edmonton, Maple Leaf and South Side—should take charge of both junior and juvenile baseball in the city. Diamonds at Clarke Stadium and South Side Athletic Park will be provided.

There is of course no restriction on entries for either junior or juvenile and the way is open for any organization to sponsor teams. It is however fairly obvious that unless definite steps are taken soon, junior ball will drag along without anything being done, the same as last season.

Pats Move Ahead in Canadian Cage Final

Noel Holds Coast Star To 1 Basket

VANCOUVER, April 10.—(CP)—Putting on a display of basketball that had Vancouver Hedlunds gasping, the Edmonton Army and Navy Pats Monday showed their heels to the defending Canadian women's champions by scoring a 45-32 victory to give them a two to one margin in the best of five series and a good chance of finishing off their Vancouver opponents tonight.

Improving with every showing, Clare Hollingsworth's team impressed the spectators with a classy display of ball handling.

Slow to get rolling, being down 12-6 at the quarter pole, the Pats started to click in the second by giving Hedlunds a taste of things to come, outscoring them 9-2. After the change over the game was all Army and Navy as shot after shot by Noel Robertson, Peggy Colville and Laura Scott found its unerring mark in spite of every Hedlund effort to check the rout.

Cleaner than the Saturday night fracas which was rough throughout, the teams played just as hard last night but concentrated more on basketball. Checking was deadly in every quarter and whereas the winners had an effective counter measure, Hedlunds had nothing to match the Alberta snipers.

Hedlunds' Rita Bell, whose prolific point-maker during the series has been outstanding, found Noel Robertson and Etta Dann "round her neck" from whistle to whistle. Rita popped one into the net during the final frame for her only basket of the night.

Noel Robertson led the scorers with an 11 followed by Laura Scott, whose 10 markers, racked up in the second half, broke the Hedlunds chances. Peggy Colville shared an eight with the losers' high point-maker Faye Burnham.

Coleman Hopeful Braves Finishing In Top Division

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—Big Bob Coleman Monday headed for home with his Boston Braves, satisfied that he has a first-division National League baseball club.

As the Braves broke camp at Georgetown University, Coleman said: "I'm optimistic about our chances of finishing in the first four."

The Braves have a potential "big five" pitching corps of Jim Tobin, Nate Andrews, Al Javery, Charley Barrett and Johnny Hutchings, but there are these problems:

Tobin is a holdout, Barrett has not yet reported, and Andrews and Javery have experienced just enough sore-arm trouble this spring to raise a few new worry wrinkles on Coleman's brow.

Around the infield, the Braves figure they are stronger at every position and are a lot faster in the outfield while retaining their batting punch in Tommy Holmes, Butch Nieman and Charley Workman.

Dick Culler, Frank Drews and Tommy Nelson, American Association graduates, and Eddie Joost, out of baseball in 1944, have given the infield stability along with two new first sackers, Joe Mack, from Columbus, and Vince Shupe, from Hartford.

The Braves figured they needed defensive speed in the outfield and they've now got it in Bill Ramsey, speed merchant from the coast league, in centre field, and Carden Gillenwater, right field, from St. Paul.

EFFECTIVE.—Noel MacDonald Robertson displayed her skill on the cage court again Monday night when she held Vancouver's high-scoring Rita Bell to one field goal in addition to pacing the Army and Navy Pats to their important win in the Canadian girls' basketball series with 11 points. Pats now lead the best of five playoff, 2-1.

Sloan Nets in Dying Minutes

St. Mike's Tops Royals 4-3 To Take Lead in East Series

MONTREAL, April 10.—(CP)—Tod Sloan's unassisted tally, a minute and a half before the end of the game allowed Toronto St. Michael's to eke-out a 4-3 verdict over Montreal Royals here last night as the Collegians moved into a 3-2 lead over Royals in the best of seven series for the Memorial Cup eastern finals. The next game will take place in Toronto Wednesday.

The game ended in a breath-taking flurry of action as Royals, trailing St. Mike's 3-1 came back with a brace of goals in a spectacular assault of the Toronto citadel and from then on it was anybody's game till Sloan's play-off tally.

Three minutes had hardly gone by in the initial frame when Royals notched the first tally. It was more or less a lucky goal for Kenny Burnett as his low drive was way out of range but it caromed off rearguard Gus Morison's leg straight into the net.

The "Majors" got that one back soon after and it was Les Costello who rammed the puck home after a two-man rush down the ice along with Frank Turik who was credited with the assist. The Collegians took advantage of a roughing penalty to Royals' Doug Harvey and a long drive by Wilbert Garry through a maze of legs did the trick.

Youthful Howie Harvey pulled Royals out of some tight spots with some brilliant saves in the second session but he couldn't cope with the deluge of rubber that came his way and he finally yielded to Bob McClean whose long drive from the blue line caught the twine before the Montreal custodian could make a move.

LINEUPS

St. Michael's: Boehmer, Thomsen, Morison, Gravelle, Paul, McCormack, Costello, Turik, Sloan, Costello, McLean, Sadler, Gray, Morrison (spare goalie).

Royals: H. Harvey, D. Harvey, Cutts, O'Connor, Malone, Chenier, Sullo, Mott, Wiseman, Cadieux, Meckell, Bussiere, Burnett, Mewles (spare goalie).

Officials: Danny Cox, Port Arthur, Dick Davis, Winnipeg.

Thompson Likes Campbell, Gadsby

VANCOUVER, April 10.—(CP)—Chicago Black Hawks have uncovered at least two fine hockey players as a result of their first hockey school held recently at Regina, Paul Thompson, former manager and coach of the Hawks, said here Sunday night on his arrival from Regina.

"We had 37 kids out there from Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia," Mr. Thompson said.

Best boy of the school in Thompson's opinion was Don Campbell, of Edmonton. "Right with him too is Bill Gadsby, Edmonton defenceman," he added. "Both Campbell and Gadsby are standouts."

NEW 'ALLOYED' OIL KEEPS MOTORS CLEAN
PEERLESS MOTOR OIL HOLDS REPAIRS DOWN

ANNOUNCING SENSATIONAL NEW MOTOR OIL, MADE BY UNIQUE 5-POINT-PROCESS

Built for Canada! B-A's sensationally modern Canadian refinery has the last word in equipment, in technique. Consequently Peerless Motor Oil keeps cars running longer, cuts repair costs. Change now to B-A Peerless, the oil that's "alloyed" to keep it on the job longer.

Never before has there been an oil like B-A PEERLESS! An oil made in Canada . . . with all the lubricating qualities in . . . all harmful factors out! And most important, an oil "alloyed" to prevent its breaking down and fouling the engine of your car.

Bench and service tests support the plain statement that you will get longer, trouble-free service from the car you are now driving if you switch to B-A Peerless Motor Oil!

5-POINT-PROCESS YOUR ASSURANCE . . .

Here's why! Peerless Motor Oil is made by The British American Oil Company Limited in the latest and most modernly-equipped refinery in Canada, by this unique five-point-process:

FIRST, from selected lubricating crudes—under B-A's control from oil well to refinery—the vital lubricating fractions are extracted, unharmed, by extremely High Vacuum distillation.

SECOND, all harmful fractions—which used to be left in oil and which cause corrosion and sludge—are removed by the amazing "Furfural" process.

THIRD, wax—which makes some good, warm weather oils poison whenever the mercury drops—is removed by M.E.K. solution at sub-zero dewaxing temperatures.

FOURTH, any last, lingering impurities are polymerized out with "Catylitic Clay." Here B-A Peerless gets its clear, sparkling colour.

FIFTH, and most revolutionary—just as easily-rusted common steel is alloyed to make shining rust-free stainless steel—so, in the new Peerless, a special process inhibits the natural tendency of ordinary oil to break down under heat and pressure.

KEEPS COSTS DOWN

This 5-point-process spells just one thing for you: greater protection, a cleaner engine and longer car life. This spring, take out added insurance for your summer driving. Switch to Peerless Motor Oil NOW! "It's Alloyed!"

She knows engines! Women drivers take no back seat now. Spring Change-Over is a definite must on this young lady's calendar. And when she changes it's certain to be to B-A Peerless Motor Oil!

Costly repairs! Deposits of hard carbon on piston rings and base sent this engine to repair shop. Peerless Motor Oil is "alloyed" to keep engines clean, avoid time-consuming, costly jobs like this.

"It's alloyed"! "It will be dollars saved for you," says your B-A dealer, if you switch, this spring, to B-A Peerless Motor Oil!

YOU ALWAYS BUY WITH CONFIDENCE AT THE SIGN OF THE BIG B-A

SPRING IS HERE! It's time to have your friendly B-A dealer drain out that old, dirty, contaminated oil in the crank case of your car. Ask him to refill with Peerless Motor Oil! "It's Alloyed" . . . keeps engines clean!

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

NEW YORK, April 10.—(BUP)—It's been another "rainy" season, financially speaking, for Byron Nelson. He found plenty of gold along the 1944-45 winter golfing trail and when they came to the end of the road at Atlanta, Ga., Sunday, Nelson was in a familiar spot—at the head of the money winners.

In the long haul which began on the Pacific coast last November, Nelson won eight titles and a total of $27,615 in prize money, most of it war bonds. His first place in the Iron Lung tournament at Atlanta was worth $2,000 and marked his eighth tournament victory— two more than the old record of six set by Jimmy Demaret in the 1939-40 season.

Rain has been important in the life of Nelson, but not as important as golf. When he is not burning up the fairways around the nation, he is an umbrella manufacturer in Toledo, O. And if it didn't rain—or if the sun's rays didn't become exceedingly warm—there wouldn't be much of a market for his umbrellas. That rainy or hot weather on the beaches is fine with Nelson so long as it doesn't bother his golf game.

SNEAD CAME CLOSEST

AND from the way he has performed since last November it is pretty obvious that it took more than weather to bother Nelson's game. Sammy Snead came the closest to upsetting it—winning six tournaments after being discharged from the navy. But just when it looked like Snead was going to challenge Nelson for the lord of the links crown the Toledo sharpshooter buckled down and won going away. He did it by winning the last four tournaments on the winter tour—Durham, Greensboro, Charlotte (after a two round playoff with Snead) and Atlanta. Before that he had taken the Portland, Phoenix, Corpus Christi and New Orleans opens.

His eight victories and those six of Snead's didn't leave much for the other golfers on the winter tour for there were only 18 tournaments in all. But because there were only about 20, compared with the usual 75 who used to make the "golden" swing, the others didn't fare too badly.

Back of Nelson, who started out as a caddy at Fort Worth, Texas, and soon after turning pro became known as the "crisis cik" because of his ability to make tough shots when they counted, came Snead. His earning totalled $16,861, quite an increase from what he made as a sailor the winter before.

MCSPADEN THIRD

HAROLD (Jug) McSpaden, who had paired with Nelson to win the Miami four ball, came third with $13,264. He was followed by Sam Byrd, who won one of the four tournaments Nelson and Snead were unable to garner. Byrd's total was $10,579. Ky Laffoon was next in line with $4,558 and Jim Ferrier, also a winner in one tournament, was sixth with $4,563.

After that came Sgt. E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, who won one tourney, with $4,203. Ray Mangrum, the only title winner, was far down the list with $2,199.

Other money winners included:

Johnny Revolta, $4,170; Claude Harmon, $3,974; Craig Wood, $3,964; Denny Shute, $3,532; Mike Turnesa, $3,526; Bob Hamilton, $3,198; Willige Goggin, $2,790; Henry Picard, $2,784; Leonard Dodson, $2,581; Bruce Coltart, $2,255; Tony Penna, $2,208; Sam Schneider, $1,191; Fred Wood, $1,882; Jimmy Hines, $1,866; Jim Gaunti, $1,717; Jack Congdon, $1,604; Fred Ongworth, $1,656; Gene Knues, $1,135; Joe Zarbardi, $1,226; and Johnny Bulla, $,112.

CANADIAN SPORTSHOTS

By FRED KERNER

TORONTO, April 10.—(CP)—Pretty Peggy Sellars, long associated with swimming activities in Quebec, has followed in the footsteps of thousands of other women in taking over executive positions from men during wartime. This week-end, Mrs. Sellars was elected president of the Quebec section of the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association.

The Quebec section has never before had a women president and followed the example set by the Manitoba section when they elected Mary McDonald prexy in 1942.

With the retirement of bachelor Bert Davey, it was expected that Norman Sherriffs would take the presidential post. But Normie is about to give up bachelorhood and begged off so that he could set up home. Other bachelors of the executive—Sheriffs in the first benedict in the lot—were content to remain in their former posts.

So Peggy, former swim champion and competent diving judge, has taken the reins. The CASA is sure of continued success in Quebec.

BUCKO AND WHISTLE

Wilfrid (Bucko) McDonald, one of the few men in pro hockey who made good after an inauspicious career in amateur hockey, is going to give up his player's uniform for the white sweater of an NHL referee. Or so they say.

Bodychecking Bucko, who last played with Rangers, is going to hospital in a few days for an operation and figures on giving up the active life of a blue-line belter. He made his first start in hockey with Toronto Maple Leafs—and if he ever played hockey before that, there is no record of it.

Born in Sundridge, Ont., he developed into one of Canada's best lacrosse stars. He was with Brampton Excelsiors in 1931 when they won the Mann Cup in New Westminster. After a short spell with Leafs, Bucko was sent to the Buffalo Bisons and attracted so much attention as a withering bodychecker that Jack Adams bought him and sent him to Detroit Olympics before taking him onto the Red Wing lineup.

His best years were in 1933-36 and 1936-37.

The interest, both here and elsewhere, is divided between two series: the Stanley Cup final between Toronto Maple Leafs and Detroit Red Wings and the Memorial Cup final between Moose Jaw Canucks, western Canada junior champions, and the winners of the series between the Montreal Royals and Toronto St. Michael's College for the eastern Canada junior title.

Two games are scheduled this week — Thursday and Saturday nights—in the Stanley Cup final, first for the Toronto team in three years. They won the trophy in 1942 by rallying to win four straight games after losing the first three to the Red Wings. The Leafs lead the current series—an eight-point affair—by virtue of victories in the first two games in Detroit Friday and Sunday nights. They have four points to none for Detroit.

The best-of-seven Memorial Cup final will start Saturday afternoon or next Monday night, depending on when St. Mike's and Royals wind up their best-of-seven series which St. Mike's leads three games to two.

The two teams return to Toronto to finish the series. One game is scheduled for Wednesday night and if that doesn't settle the issue another will be played Saturday afternoon. If the eastern title is settled Wednesday night, the Saturday afternoon game will be between Moose Jaw and the winners. If the eastern champions aren't decided until Saturday, the best-of-seven Memorial Cup final will open Monday night.

The Moose Jaw team left Winnipeg Sunday night after ousting Winnipeg Monarchs Saturday night and is scheduled to arrive here today, giving them ample time to get acclimatized.

Hockey officials look for the usual thumping attendance in both series. The highest attendance on record at Maple Leaf Gardens was 16,240 paid admission April 18, 1942, in the Detroit-Toronto Stanley Cup final of that year. The Memorial Cup final, which has become a wartime fixture for Toronto ice, annually faces the Gardens 12,624 seating capacity.

With the Allan Cup final for the senior hockey title of the dominion a wartime casualty this season, the Canada-wide interest in Stanley and Memorial Cup play is expected to be higher than ever before.

Winnipeg Sailors Beat Port Arthur

PORT ARTHUR, April 10.—(CP)—HMCS Chippawa won the Manitoba-Thunder Bay senior hockey championship last night by defeating Port Arthur Shipbuilders 5-4 in two games. The Winnipeg Sailors won the opener 7-3 here Saturday.

LW. Lionel Reise and Stoker Fred Shero each scored twice for the navy and OS. Tony Leswick got the other counter. Stan Robertson, Norm Wright, Waikko Koivisto and Jack Marshall were the Port Arthur marksmen.

Double Feature Wrestling Card Friday Night

A double main event features Friday night's wrestling card at the Empire Theatre. Seelie Samara's colored heavyweight champion is scheduled to go against Chief Thundercloud and Ted Christy, the Hollywood magician will operate on Lee Grable.

This will be Samara's third appearance in Edmonton and Promoter George Girvin is bringing him back in response to public demand.

Samara defeated Bud Higgins quite easily some weeks ago and later gained the odd in the best of three from Ted Christy when the latter was disqualified.

The Grable-Christy affair is a winner-take-all proposition and two referees will be in the ring.

Maurice De Blieck and Emil Van Velzen have been named for a preliminary canter.

Hakkan Lidmark, sports writer and hurdler who accompanied Haegg here last month, will remain for an outdoor tour.

Adams Hits at Leaf Tactics In First Games of Series

DETROIT, April 10.—(AP)—Toronto Maple Leafs left behind them a spirited discussion of the tactics by which they blanked Detroit Red Wings 1-0 and 2-0 in the first two game of the final series for hockey's venerable Stanley Cup.

The two victories gave the Leafs a commanding lead in the four-out-of-seven series, pay they returned for games in Toronto Thursday and Saturday.

In each game here the Leafs played cautiously, for the most part massing a wall of players against Red Wings rushes and waiting for breakaway scoring chances. When these chances came they were better than any the Detroit players found in the Leaf-filled area around the Toronto nets.

Detroit crowds of more than 13,500 booed the Toronto tactics and Monday manager Jack Adams of the Red Wings added this comment:

"The spectators, whose support makes this game possible, pay their money to see hockey—not one team sitting on the puck all night while the other team forces all the play, carries to puck in, shoots, makes the breaks that decide the game."

There was no disputing the effectiveness of the Maple Leaf style. The Red Wings were handcuffed and their attack was thrown off balance. They were shut out twice in a row for the first time in their 18 years in the National Hockey League.

Adams was making plans to even up the score with the Leafs. He announced no change in the Red Wing lineup, but with three idle days before the series is resumed, he called a practice session for Tuesday night. The Wings will leave for Toronto on Wednesday afternoon.

Bracken "Out"

Gordon Graydon, Blackmore Not Pleased by Selection Of Delegates for U.S. Parley

By CHESTER BLOOM
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, April 10.—The only voices raised in sorrow or anger at Prime Minister King's naming of Canada's seven officials, representatives to the San Francisco United Nations conference, were those of Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative house leader, himself a member of the delegation, and John Blackmore, Social Credit house leader, omitted.

Mr. Graydon wept a few verbal tears over the cold shoulder given to John Bracken, the official out-of-the-house Progressive Conservative leader, but he had Mr. Bracken's blessing which was something.

Mr. Blackmore took a dim view of the whole proceeding. Liberals, CCF and Progressive Conservatives were only one party in reality, he said. The only voices that had been raised in opposition to the general proposals on which the San Francisco conference was founded, he alleged, were those of the Social Creditors.

GIVEN BRUSH OFF

Mr. King had promised that the opposition would be represented at the conference and now he had given the actual opposition the brush off.

Mr. King himself on the other hand, took a very sprightly view—he had done a good job of putting together a very representative delegation.

There were himself and Hon. Louis Stephen St. Laurent, the minister of justice, representing the government. There was Mrs. Cora T. Casselman, Liberal member from Edmonton East, and government senate leader J. H. King, representing the government side on the Senate.

Representing the official opposition were Progressive Conservative Senator Lucien Moraud of the upper house, and Progressive Conservative house leader Gordon Graydon with CCF leader M. J. Coldwell, that gave the House one more representative from the government side than from the opposition which was fitting.

EXPLAINS VIEW

Mr. King said he was sincerely sorry that he couldn't take Mr. Blackmore. He would be, Mr. King knew, a good travelling companion but he could not take him as the leader of a group, a view which he explained thus:

"In selecting the leader of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation", said Mr. King, "I made that choice on the basis that he is the leader of a party which has a following in more provinces than one; a following which to that extent is more representative of different parts of Canada and partakes of the nature of a sectional party. The following of the honorable member from Lethbridge, (Mr. Blackmore) is confined, I believe, to one province.

"We have representatives in Manitoba," put in Mr. Blackmore.

"Not in this house," said the prime minister, and proceeded:

"The other groups," I believe, "are confined to one province or parts of a province, and it would hardly be possible to have the delegation to make it more representative than, I believe, it is, under this proposal.

"As to the representative from Quebec. My thought was that the most acceptable representation would be found in choosing the leaders of the government and the opposition in the senate. I have asked Hon. Senator King, leader of the government in the senate, and Hon. C. C. Ballantyne if he would not accept as the leader of the opposition in the upper house. I was particularly hopeful that Hon. Mr. Ballantyne might find it possible to accept, particularly as he is one of the oldest members of parliament and has had rather exceptional experience in matters of international concern . . .

TRIBUTE IS PAID

After paying a tribute to Senator Ballantyne's work with Sir Robert Borden in forming the League of Nations, Mr. King said unfortunately for personal reasons, the senator was unable to accept.

"In inviting Senator Moraud," said Mr. King, "The government had in mind not merely the representative of the Conservative opposition in the senate, but also have a French-speaking man as well as an English-speaking representation on the delegation chosen in the case of the senate as well as the house. Mr. Moraud has had considerable experience in international problems. He was familiar particularly with matters pertaining to South American countries."

Mr. King who paid high tribute to the seven expert advisers of the delegation including N. A. Robertson, under-secretary of state for external affairs; H. Hume Wrong, associate under-secretary of state for external affairs; L. B. Pearson Canadian ambassador to the United States; Jean Desy, Canadian ambassador to Brazil; Dana L. Wilgress, Canadian ambassador to Soviet Russia; M. F. Shipman, Canadian ambassador to Chile, and Major General Maurice Pope, military adviser to the prime minister.

Mr. Graydon said the naming of himself was not an entire surprise to him, but gave him the opportunity to say that the arbitrary ruling out of his leader John Bracken as a possible choice of delegates, was both unfortunate and groundless.

RIGHT IS CLAIMED

"We feel that Mr. Bracken has the best right to represent us," he said, "and on that point there is complete unanimity within the Progressive Conservative party. I have no doubt that this view is largely held throughout Canada by all unprejudiced people. Canada's interests would be more acceptably served were she to have at the security conference, the present prime minister's most likely successor.

"Anticipating that, I might be designated as a delegate by the prime minister," went on Mr. Graydon, "I sought the advice and guidance of my leader a few days ago with respect to the course which I should follow in the event of an invitation being extended.

"Mr. Bracken was firmly of the opinion that I had a duty to the nation and to my party to accept. I am following his advice, and subject to clarification of my position in the delegation, shall accept the responsibility."

COLDWELL APPRECIATIVE

Mr. Coldwell merely said that he deeply appreciated his appointment, "not on account of any partisan advantage, but because I believe that perhaps in the future, whoever may be in power in this country, those of us who attend the conference will be called upon to assist that person in furthering the cause of peace and universal justice throughout the world."

Mr. Blackmore said the real opposition was not represented since the Social Crediters were not represented on the delegation. "I challenge any man in Canada," he said, "to show any difference whatsoever between the Liberals and the Progressive Conservatives in any respect. I challenge anyone to show any material difference between the trends of Liberalism today and the avowed policy of the CCF. The prime minister has successfully eliminated from the delegation the opposition. The Social Credit party is the only one that has proposed a means of eliminating the cause of war. Therefore it should be represented at the conference."

Mr. King said that in addition to the seven expert advisers to the delegation named in the foregoing, there would also be six or seven technical advisers and the necessary clerical and secretarial assistants.

Rentals Fixed At $24 to $30 For New Homes

city has the option to purchase the houses for $1,000 be extended to 1960 instead of the agreed 1957. On the motion of Alderman F. J. Mitchell the city commissioners were instructed to enter into the agreement on the basis of the extended time, but were to negotiate with the company for an option to purchase the homes at $1,700 after 12 years.

Mayor Fry reported also that satisfactory arrangements had been completed for the heating of the houses with gas, and said that the concrete footings of the homes would go down four feet below the grade line, and would be two feet above ground to the rough floor.

A resolution from the City of Windsor seeking support for a petition to the Dominion government to acquire sufficient authority to legislate a national 40-hour work week was ordered filed. Ald. Sidney Parsons said this was a matter that could be left to organized labor to deal with effectively at the proper time.

CONSIDER PETITION

The petition from residents in the territory west of 124 street, along 118 avenue for permission to have the Checker Bus Lines operate a service along 118 avenue to 124 street and 140 street was referred to the transportation committee for consideration and report.

Council referred the petition from Mrs. P. J. Verhoven, 11451 101 street, for a change of zone on this property to the bylaws committee.

Concurrence in the recommendation of the finance committee that a grant of $300 be made to the Edmonton Council of Education was forthcoming, but the request of the Mountsien Home and School Association for a grant of $700 was referred back to the finance committee to permit reexaminations being made by members of the Edmonton Recreation Commission.

Carl Berg was appointed as the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council nominee to the Edmonton Joint Industry Committee, and Aldermen Fred J. Mitchell and R. Winslow Hamilton and City Commissioner John Hodgson as the city council's representatives on the committee.

TAX PAYMENTS

Approval was given by council to the recommendation of Thomas Walker, city assessor, that the dates for payment of tax instalments be fixed for May 16, first instalment; July 16, second instalment; September 17, third instalment, and November 17, fourth instalment.

The city commissioners were given authority to dispense with or reduce the patrol service now carried out on the city power plant to prevent sabotage. City Commissioner F. J. Gibb intimated that only three patrol men were now employed.

First reading was given to a bylaw governing the keeping of cattle and other domestic and wild animals within the city limits. There were no changes in principle in the new bylaw which provides discretionary powers to the medical officer of health to grant permission to keep cattle within the inner zone. It provides also for the prohibition of keeping such animals if a nuisance is created.

The petition from a number of residents in the vicinity of the Fane garage recently destroyed by fire, seeking prohibition of rebuilding on the property was referred to the town planning commission, and the city architect was empowered to withhold the granting of a permit to erect garages or a garage on the property.

For Overhauling Gardener's Tools

By Mrs. R. G. Coglon

CONSORT—The back may ache awhile and creaky joints protest, but put to daily use, the old muscles tune themselves to newborn vigor and hope, in keeping a garden mellow and clean, making things grow.

So first of all, find a load of rich, black earth and fine, old, black manure to mix into the garden soil. If these be scarce, bear in mind that even a little helps to make the lettuce crisp and green. Luxury lies in garden soil when shrewdly mixed and then raked and hoed to let the sun and air do their will. Onions shoot up with tender, crispy bulbs and stems.

Long rows of carrots, young, and brittle as ice with golden, sugary roots and full of vitamins. Then hills of early spuds along the sides, to save the best and sunniest part for squash and early tomatoes.

To smell the rich, moist soil in spring, to dig and feel the damp earth is joy to any nature-loving person, whether on the farm, in village, or in the heart of a city. It is fun, to have a patch of ground somewhere, to grow the things needed for food and floral beauty too.

There is no pleasure in a stunted growth of corn, or peas or hateful noxious weeds. A fertile soil alone can tempt the garden connoisseur.

In spite of the current snow, spring is just around the corner. Let Alberta garden-lovers set about the yearly task of getting tools and equipment lined up. The soil is ready and the sun is waiting!

Spring Ice Battle Sees Red Deer Win

RED DEER — While Red Deer hasn't got an artificial ice plant, and it is April, a hockey game at the Arena Saturday night saw the 78th (R) Battery teams from Red Deer and Lacombe meet here in an exhibition game won by Red Deer, 9-5. It was the latest date that hockey has been played here for many years.

The first period ended 1-1. Parks scoring for Lacombe and Armstrong for Red Deer on Silverman's pass. In the second session, the locals opened up and carried play to their opponents to lead 6-2 at the end of the period. Lester led the Red Deer marksmen with four goals, Armstrong notched the other marker. Silverman (2), Martin, Gaetz, Krause, Meeres and Armstrong picked up assists. Jim Watt tallied for Lacombe. The work of Joe Shaddick in the Red Deer nets was a feature of the period, as he made a number of sensational stops when Lacombe pressed hard. Each side counted three times in the third round. Jackson got two for Lacombe and Armstrong got their third. For the winners the scoring was Martin from Wells, Lester from Krause and Armstrong from Meeres.

FO Sharun has received the Distinguished Flying Cross, according to an announcement from Ottawa. Thrice-wounded Sgt. Prenevost, still "going strong" in the European theatre, has been cited for gallantry. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Prenevost of this town, who hope to see their sergeant soon.

Citizens Beam as Redcoats Back Law

ST. PAUL — A Royal Canadian Mounted Police detachment has taken over the policing of this town. To date several off-the-straight-and-narrow burghers have been fined for infraction of traffic rules and citizens anticipate a tightening-up of law enforcement with a resultant improving of conditions here.

"But you did make a will, George."

"Just a slip of paper leaving everything to you—including the headache of looking after yourself alone. Not even an executor. ## Annual Spring Show Attracts Many Entries

The cream of Alberta horses and cattle will be on display in the show rings at the Edmonton Exhibition Association annual spring show and sale of purebred livestock which opened Tuesday and will continue through Thursday.

Entries this year are the largest in recent years, and their quality well above the average, Charles E. Wilson, managing director of the association, stated.

Judging opened at 10 a.m. Tuesday with the junior judging competition held under the supervision of S. H. Gandier, supervisor of Boys' and Girls' Clubs for the province of Alberta.

JUDGING STARTS

Judging of finished cattle and in the light horse classes also got underway Tuesday morning. Judges in the heavy horse classes were also at work selecting the champions in the Clydesdale classes.

On Tuesday evening in the Arena, under the sponsorship of the Kinsmen Club, an outstanding horse show will be presented interspersed with which will be numerous novelty events.

Some of the best saddle horses and hunters are entered in the different events which include the judging of the best boy rider under 15 years, musical ride by members of the Edmonton Riding and Driving Academy, the competition of the Hudson's Bay Challenge Cup for the best novice saddle horse of the show, the novice hunter and the lightweight hunter class.

The hunter classes will provide thrilling entertainment as the difficult jumping course is negotiated by the long list of entries received in these classes.

TO BUILD AIR STRIP.—A. M. "Mat" Berry, veteran bush pilot and McKee aviation trophy winner, who has secured a Dominion government contract to construct a modern gravel-surfaced airfield at Yellowknife. Work on the new field will begin as soon as the spring break-up permits. A great rush to Yellowknife is expected this summer. The airfield will be completed before fall, according to present plans.

Stresses Need Leadership in Post-War Era

Business men must become more politically conscious and provide the leadership which is sorely needed to meet the problems which will face the world at peace, Capt. J. Harper Prowse, Army representative in the Legislature, told members of the Cosmopolitan club when he addressed their luncheon meeting in the Corona hotel Tuesday.

"Men who hold executive positions in business have shown that their judgments on the average are good. Normally they have not shown much interest in political problems but have left them to people who may not be as well equipped to solve the problems as they are," he said.

He pointed out that the answers to political problems are too often left to men who interest themselves in the issues and quite often these are men whose judgments on the average are not good.

Keen political interest is often found in men who have been unsuccessful in business and they devote a lot of time to figuring out the answer to problems which face the country, Capt. Prowse said.

However, these problems need the best solution available and it is up to the businessmen to take an interest and work out the answers based on their own sound judgments.

Hear Improvement Labor Amendments

A regular meeting of the Edmonton Labor Council of the Canadian Congress of Labor was held in the Imperial Bank building, Monday evening when president T. C. Robertson was in the chair.

Secretary-treasurer John Langlet, reported on action taken concerning amendments, introduced at the recent session of the Legislature, in the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act. He stated that the actions of the Council, together with similar actions taken by other organizations and individuals, had resulted in some improvements in the amendments.

The meeting agreed to write letters to the minister of labor and to the Edmonton members of Parliament asking them to get the Dominion Government to amend order-in-council to guarantee genuine collective bargaining and a satisfactory wage structure.

Jan Lakeman, vice-president, pointed out that there were only 29 city polls for municipal elections as compared with more than 150 each for provincial and Dominion elections. This resulted in districts like Calder having only one poll for an area of 400 city blocks.

He also spoke of the advantage of the ward system to a city like Edmonton. The meeting referred the matters brought forward by Mr. Lakeman to the Legislative committee for further consideration.

Disease Reveals Increase in City

An increase of 35 was recorded in the number of reportable disease cases reported to the city health department during the week ended April 7 compared with the week previous when 82 cases were reported, according to a report filed Tuesday with the city commissioners by Dr. G. M. Little, medical officer of health.

The following is a tabulation of the cases reported:

Marauders Flee When Disturbed

Two men, said to have entered the premises of Joe's Shoe Repair, 11363 Jasper avenue, about 12:30 a.m. Tuesday, took to their heels when interrupted and separated after reaching the street, according to city police. The culprits, it was stated, escaped with 12 one-dollar bills which they took from the cash register.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ewanshew stated that they heard someone enter the building by the door and then approach the cash register. Forcing an emergency door between their living quarters and the shop Mr. Ewanshew said he saw the two men at the till.

Immediately they took to their heels. Entry, it appeared, had been made by the use of a key or by slipping the lock. Investigations are continuing.

Danish MP Plans Speak Here Soon

Arrangements are being made for Edmontonians to hear one of the youngest members of the Danish parliament, Robert Staermose, in the very near future.

Mr. Staermose, who is the principal of one of Denmark's folk high schools, was elected to parliament at the last election held in March, 1943, but, as he was active in the anti-nazi movement, had to go "underground" and, when the Germans became interested in his whereabouts, he succeeded in fleeing from Denmark to England and is now on a speaking tour of the United States and Canada.

He has spoken in Montreal and Toronto.

His subjects are "The Resistance Movement in Denmark" and "Adult Education in Denmark."

J. S. Clarke Winner Prize Essay Award

John S. Clarke, recent graduate of St. Stephen's College, Edmonton, has been awarded the Robertson Memorial essay prize. This competition is open to the four western colleges of the United church. The subject of the essay was, "The Problem of Christian Education in the Schools."

In his essay, Mr. Clarke maintained that the fundamental truths of Christianity ought to be presented carefully and thoroughly in the school curriculum. This problem was not to be solved by clergymen taking the place of teachers in schools, but must be accomplished by the teachers themselves. Just as a teacher is prepared to teach in any other field, he ought to be prepared to teach the truths of Christianity. In line with this argument, Mr. Clarke suggested that the teachers be given courses in Christian philosophy, the comparative study of religions, introduction to the Bible, historical Christianity, and Christian problems. The standards of scholarship in this work would be as exacting as in any other field. Such scholarship would stand above the limitations of sects and denominations.

Solemn Tribute Paid

Edmonton Veterans Honor Vimy Heroes

With victory in the present world conflict lighting up the dark horizon, Edmonton veterans of the First Great War Monday paid solemn tribute to the memory of comrades who fell in one of the greatest triumphs of Canadian arms 28 years ago.

It was on April 9, 1917 that the Canadian Corps operating for the first time as a sizable army formation on an operation of primary importance, stormed and captured what had been considered the impregnable German-held bastion of Vimy Ridge.

Monday in Edmonton, veterans of the past and present was represented in the Canadian Corps Association unit and Edmonton branch No. 24 of the Canadian Legion, marched to the cenotaph where wreaths were laid and tribute paid.

3,000 CASUALTIES

In the initial storming and the later mopping up, the Canadian Corps suffered more than 3,000 casualties but the capture of the ridge marked one of the morale turning points of the entire war. It proved that good planning, good generalship and magnificent determination can capture any impregnable position.

Members of the Canadian Corps, wearing the colored berets of the immortal four divisions of the Old Corps, marched from the Masonic Temple to the Memorial Hall at 5 p.m., where President A. M. Adamson laid a wreath.

At 7:30 members of the Canadian Legion headed by the Legion pipe band under Pipe Maj. Henry Laing, marched to the cenotaph, the Legion colors being carried by a color party.

Many veterans of the present war marched with the Legionaires, who wore medals and armbands.

At the Cenotaph the marchers formed up in front of the memorial column and while a bugler sounded the Last Post, and as a piper played The Lament the colors were slowly dipped in salute to be raised with the sounding of Reveille.

President H. E. Tanner, of Branch 24 of the Legion, placed the wreath.

The veterans then proceeded back to the Memorial hall, where Vimy concert and smoker was held.

Major R. C. Arthurs, MC, was parade marshal, assisted by Jack Jones, parade sergeant-major.

Capt. J. Harper Prowse, twice-wounded officer of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment, spoke briefly as did other service personnel recently returned from Italy.

PRAISES LEGION

Captain Prowse, who is the Canadian Army's representative in the Alberta Legislature, paid high tribute to the work of the Legion, stating he was satisfied that most beneficial acts now in force on behalf of service personnel, resulted solely from the efforts of the Legion.

President H. E. Tanner also spoke briefly reminding the audience of 800 of the great victory won at Vimy 28 years ago.

Band selection by a band under the direction of Matt Gibbons and songs and skits were greatly enjoyed during a program under the direction of Jack Jones, master of ceremonies.

The Rev. Roy Taylor, former member of the Alberta Legislature for Pincher Creek, conducted a brief service for the Canadian Corps Association at the Cenotaph. The minister served with the 15th Bn. CEF in the First Great War.

A bugler sounded Last Post.

Sergeant Resigns From Police Force

Resignation of Sgt. Percy Appleby from the city police force was announced Tuesday by Chief Constable Reg Jennings. Resignation of Constable Arthur Johnson was received last Friday, while that of Sgt. Ben Duclos was accepted several weeks earlier.

The resignations followed the suspension of the three men from the force due to the fracas last Christmas at police headquarters, at which time Constable Johnson received injuries that necessitated his removal to hospital. Later he sued Sergeant Appleby for assault and was awarded $2,000 damages.

PRIVATE BREGER ABROAD—"He just wants to know what a factory-made foxhole feels like!"

REPORTED SAFE.—PO. The 21-year-old officer was last seen over Dusseldorf attempting to make a forced landing. He has been in the RCAF since July, 1941, being a graduate of Calder and Technical schools here.

Guest Child Here, Married Overseas

A piece of wedding cake from the now-married first British guest child to return to the old country has been received by C. B. Hill, superintendent of child welfare for the province. Sender was 18-year-old Doris Georgina Henson, Windsor, Eng., now Mrs. Samuel Lange, whose husband, an Edmontonian is a Canadian Army paratrooper overseas.

The couple met first when the soldier was on embarkation leave here. They met again in England and the wedding followed last month. Mrs. Lange arrived in Edmonton in August, 1940. She resided with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Crockett, Dr. and Mrs. Fulton Gillespie, and later Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lange, 12512 Stony Plain Road. She attended Westglen high school and left Edmonton last August.

Tram Patronage Shows Decrease For 2nd Month

Believe it or not, patrons of city street cars, traffic on Edmonton's street railway system has shown a decrease in volume for two successive months, and an overall decrease of 103,234 for the first three months of 1945 compared with the same period of 1944, according to figures released Thursday by Thomas Ferrier, street railway superintendent.

Total passengers carried during the three months period ended March 31, 1945 was 8,837,567 compared with 8,940,801 for the three months of 1944. Traffic in March this year totalled 2,906,050 compared with 2,968,319 in March, 1944, a decrease of 62,269.

CAUSE OF DECREASE

Mr. Ferrier attributed the decrease in traffic to the fact that there were only 28 operating days in February this year, while last year, Leap Year, the system carried 100,000 passengers on the extra day. Closing down of the No. 3 Manning depot and No. 4 ITS also had a bearing on the decline of patronage, he said.

Traffic on bus routes continued to climb, Mr. Ferrier stated, with the 95 street route showing an increase of 27.78 per cent, and the low level route an increase of 32.21 per cent.

Increases on the bus routes have been at the expense of some of the street car routes, the white line showing a decrease of 18.1 per cent, and the red and white line 16.9 per cent. The Calder route declined 9.16 per cent and the blue and white line a decrease of 1.8 per cent.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

With the European conflict going in favor of the Allies, people nevertheless are reminded about becoming over-optimistic about when it will end, how things will be settled, how the miscreants will be punished, and a lot of other things. Looking ahead, do you feel optimistic about the future, simply for yourself, but of things generally?

THE ANSWERS

A.R.B., railroader: If the general discontent of people in this country is anything to go by, I don't feel so optimistic about years of peace to come. We in Canada should be just about the happiest of all people, the most thankful, in the world, but we're not. Every one seems to me to be looking for something for himself at no cost to himself—a Utopia without investing a penny in anything. If people don't get "something" there's going to be more trouble than ever—so they say.

GEORGE JOHNSON, clerk: I see no reason why we shouldn't look to the future with optimism, not pessimism. Industry should and will expand and take on young men and young women, while older hands are given a pension. I see no reason for anybody being out of work, nor any need for anyone to go without the necessities of life. So far as families are concerned, I know we have one bright spot to look forward to. At least our children will not go hungry.

* * *

MRS. L. FOSTER, housewife: It pays to be optimistic, and it's healthier, I claim. Yes, I think the future looks more promising than any other time during my life. It is taking a long time to get around to it, but I believe that the world at large is getting a little more human in spite of the atrocities of this war.

Continue Parley With Bondholders

Further conferences between Alberta bondholders' committee representatives and Premier Ernest Manning and other treasury officials were scheduled for Tuesday afternoon, according to the premier's office, but no announcement of the government's $113,200,000 refunding plan.

Bondholders' committee representatives at the conferences are H. W. Tatlock, Newark, N.J., and C. E. Gill, Toronto, both senior officers of large insurance companies. They arrived here last Friday morning by plane.

A brief conference was held between the premier and committee representatives Monday afternoon. Mr. Manning said nothing had come out of this parley, which was simply for the purpose of arranging Tuesday's meeting.

Education Heads To Attend Parley

Diamond drilling operations in the great potential gold mining area is expected to reach an all-time high this coming summer.

Old Loves Just Ghosts And Cannot Be Revived

Middle-Age Craving for First Romance Can Be Cured; People Must Remember That First Loves Change

Strange and curious and past all understanding are the ways of married people. Among the most inexplicable of their vagaries is that they so often react emotionally towards the sweethearts of their boyhood and girlhood as they do towards the little red apples that grew on Grandpa's farm, or the doughnuts that Mother used to make. They get a craving for them that gnaws at their hearts night and day, and that spoils all of their peaceful, comfortable, home lives.

In the course of a year I get hundreds of letters from both men and women telling of the anguish they are enduring at discovering that they are not in love with the wife or husband they have been married to for thirty or forty years, but that their one and great passion has always been for their adolescent romances. True, they never suspected it at the time. The boy went away from home to seek his fortune, fell in love with a pretty girl, or thought he did, and married her. A dashing youth came down the girl's street, caught her fancy, and she became his happy bride.

LOVE IN RETROSPECT

Both couples made homes, worked together, had children, and never doubted their affection for each other, until suddenly, along towards middle life, it occurs to them that they don't love their Marias or their Johns, and that they are pining for the Angelinas or Percivals they did not marry.

It seems unbelievable that sensible men and women would drag these dead loves out of their graves and hold wakes over them and shed tears over them, but they do, and thereby they give themselves much unnecessary sorrow. For, after all, they are bound by the lives they have made, and there is always the good wife and the good husband and the children and the business and their places in society that they can't dump just because they didn't diagnose their emotions correctly when they were kids.

It is a situation that has both comedy and pathos in it, but, fortunately, there is a very simple remedy for it and one that will fail to work. That is for the one who mourns a lost love to seek out his dream man or girl and take an appraising second look at him or her. For in our memories of our early sweethearts we always see them untouched by time. They are forever young and slim and beautiful, bubbling over with the joy of living. There are no wrinkles in their faces. No gray in their hair. No rheumatism in their joints.

But, alas, in real life Romeo doesn't always slay Romeo, and Juliet sees him paunchy and bald, with a conversational line that runs from the stock market to baseball; she wakes up from her girlish love dream forever. And when Romeo beholds Juliet with a middle-age spread and triple chins and lines to her babble about Junior cutting a new tooth, he is glad enough to return to his Maria whose curves, or angles, and disposition he is so accustomed to he doesn't even notice them.

For the red apple is the symbol of life. It was youth that gave its flavor to it and that never comes back to us.

Points for Parents

By EDYTH THOMAS WALLACE

Jean: "Mother has written that she's going to the grocery store. I'll add that I'm over at your house. What's your phone number so she can call me if she wants me?"

Daughter: "I don't see why you have to know where I am every minute. You don't leave a note when you go out."

Mother: "That's different. I'm a grown woman."

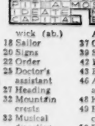

When parents observe the same rules of consideration they expect their young people to follow, co-operation is not difficult to obtain.

THESE WOMEN—"Oh, no, on her day off, she goes OUT!"

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Every parent attacks appetitelessness with the same weapons. She feels as sure, each time, that for her they will work. They seem to be so natural and so right.

So, when young Sue purses her lips and will have no more of her sieved peas, mother is ready with the first weapon: wheedling.

"Look, darling! Let's find the flower on the bottom of the plate. Watch now. Here it comes, right under this spoonful. Take this—and you'll see the flower."

That may work for the moment. Just urging one or more spoonfuls on baby may work. It's the long-time result which is poor. Any baby who becomes accustomed to expecting some wheedling will tend to wait for it. Maybe there are more than flowers on a plate as a reward for his indifference. He'll wait for bigger favors.

When mother grows weary thinking up new stimuli she may resort to her next weapon: threats.

"Now, look here, young man: you finish up those peas or you can't have your nice pudding."

Since most babies eat their sweets without much urging, this has an influence—for a time. It also establishes an attitude toward peas as compared to pudding, which will prevail for years. Peas are something one has to eat—because they are good for one— pudding is just good. The difference is obvious.

Later when both these weapons have proved fruitless, there is always the parental side-show: the games, the songs, the stories to distract the child so that he is hypnotized into accepting a laden spoon while his eyes or ears are engaged.

This isn't the answer to success. The answer must come from a recognition of why baby can't eat and an equal recognition that some days, some meals, a child is entitled to refuse food. How else will he ever discover that the eating—after a spell of emptiness—is desirable?

Our leaflet, "Poor Appetites," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Myrtle Meyer Eldred with this request in care of this newspaper.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

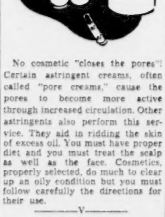

If there is one advantage vouchsafed the intelligent woman over her uneducated sister in reference to the cancer problem—a problem which the woman in right must inevitably face if she reaches forty —it is her prudence, which leads her to visit her physician for examination upon the appearance of any trouble at all, whereas her ignorant and better-to-be-pitied sister procrastinates until the disease, if it is cancer, is well advanced.

Through women's clubs, nurses' auxiliaries, social service agencies and newspaper appeals, 1,319 presumably well women, some single, some married and with families, of all walks of life, ages from 30 to 80 years, volunteered to report twice a year for five years for pelvic examination. Drs. Catherine Macfarlane, Margaret C. Sturgis and Faith S. Bettman conducted this study. The examination was just the simple examination any good doctor makes to determine whether there is any indication of cancer of the uterus. Now 545 of these volunteers have completed the five-year period. Four cases of cancer of the cervix or neck of the uterus and one case of cancer of the body of uterus were found — under adequate, prompt treatment all of these patients have remained well 2 for six years, 2 for five years, 1 for 15 months. In addition to the five cases of cancer thus discovered at the earliest possible stage among 545 presumably well women, 461 inflammatory lesions were found, and 200 of these have been treated and eliminated. Ages of the women who were found to have cancer were 29, 41, 54, 64 and 65 years. All had borne one or more children.

Minute Make-Ups

No cosmetic "closes the pores"! Certain astringent creams, often called "pore creams," cause the pores to become more active through increased circulation. Other astringents also perform this service. They aid in ridding the skin of excess oil. You must have proper diet and you must treat the scalp as well as the face. Cosmetics, properly selected, do much to clear up an oily condition but you must follow carefully the directions for their use.

Debunker

Many people think that fire-irons are kept polished merely for the sake of their appearance, but the truth is, it is a matter of comfort and convenience. Polished fire-irons will remain in front of a fire for a long while without becoming too hot to touch, while unpolished irons and pokers soon become too hot to handle with the hands. The difference is due to the fact that heat is more readily reflected from bright, polished surfaces and is absorbed most by dull, rough surfaces. Maybe we could keep cooler on a hot day with shining noses rather than powdered ones. Nobody has experimented on this point yet.

Stories of Jap Atrocities True

SYDNEY, Australia, April 10—(CP)—A civilian internee from Manilla who reached Sydney yesterday said: "You can believe all the stories of Jap atrocities you ever read." Twenty-six members of the Swiss colony who had not been interned were shot by Japanese soldiers, another internee informant said. One Frenchman known as a De Gaulle supporter found when released that his wife, three children and two brothers all had been murdered by the Japanese.

Riverdale Hears Officials' Reports

The postponed monthly meeting of the Riverdale Community League was held Monday night when reports of past activities and plans for the future were dealt with. After a report of the recent court case the meeting passed a motion "Authorizing a public statement that the league at no time authorized anyone to collect the solicited donations for the repair or rebuilding of the community hall. Its authority to canvass the public was limited to the sponsoring of a public dance on a straight ticket sale basis with no appeal for donations."

A building committee of four was appointed with the view of having a new community home and hall site by early fall in connection with the rink. A report on the federation banquet April 19 at the Corona was received and discussed with promises of good support from the league. The executive will meet on Monday to further discuss the new committee.

The treasurer reported a satisfactory hall fund on hand which he hoped would be substantially increased during the summer and fall by league functions and personal appeals to the residents of the district through a personal letter.

Co-Operative Tax Probe Is Resumed

OTTAWA, April 10—(CP)—The McDougall Royal Commission, resuming its investigation of the taxation of co-operatives, yesterday heard evidence concerning the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative Association and the United Farmers' Co-operative Co., Ltd., an Ontario organization.

John Deane, former general manager of the fishermen's co-operative and now general manager of the British Columbia Fishermen's Co-operative Association, was examined by E. T. Parker, counsel for the crown, and C. H. Locke, solicitor representing 15 west coast fishing companies. Both solicitors dealt particularly with the financial statements of the Prince Rupert Co-operative.

Mr. Deane said that in some cases there was a spread of two or three cents between the ceiling price which could be paid producers and the ceiling selling price. This difference was largely used up in storage charges.

He said there was a moral obligation but no written obligation requiring the co-operative to return surpluses to its members.

Jewish Treasures Are Found Stored In German Town

WITH THE U.S. 3RD ARMY IN GERMANY, April 10—(AP)—A Nazi-assembled collection of Jewish cultural treasures has been discovered in the Hessian village of Hungen, 16 miles southeast of Giessen, by Lieut. Robert Schoenfield, Brooklyn, N.Y., it was disclosed yesterday. Hungen was made a collecting point for these treasures starting in 1941, with Dr. Otto Paul, an orientalist, supervising. The treasures were looted from museums, the Rothschild libraries, the Oppenheim collection at Frankfurt and the Jewish Historical Museum at Amsterdam.

McKenney On Bridge

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

This is the second of a series on the smother play, the most difficult play in bridge to recognize.

This hand was originally played by John R. Crawford of Philadelphia, now in the Army. Johnnie was the youngest man to become a Life Master.

Once again we find the king of trump well protected by East. East won the first two tricks with his king and ace of hearts and Crawford ruffed the third heart. The jack of trump was led. Naturally, East did not cover.

When West showed out, another round of trumps were taken. Then the ace and king of diamonds were cashed. Crawford ruffed another heart. Now the two high clubs were cashed by Crawford. A small club was led and South West had to win with the queen.

West had nothing to return but a diamond. Crawford held the ten and nine of trump while East held the king and eight of trump. The ace and a small club were in dummy.

Crawford trumped the diamond with the ten of spades and East was helpless.

Jurists Planning For Peace Parley

WASHINGTON, April 10—(AP)—State Secretary Stettinius yesterday told an international jurists' group their job is to express the determination of peace-loving peoples that future international differences "be settled by peaceful methods and on a basis of justice."

The jurists, representing 38 of the United Nations governments, are meeting to complete the basic design of the Dumbarton Oaks security plan in preparation for the San Francisco conference. It is up to them to decide whether the old "permanent court of international justice" or some new agency should be made a part of the proposed organization.

The expectation is that the decision will be to continued the permanent court, which had its headquarters at The Hague, in Netherlands, with perhaps some modifications.

Dominion Holds Treasury Bills For $182,343,586

OTTAWA, April 10. — (CP)— Treasury bills held by the finance department from provinces total $182,343,586, Finance Minister Ilsley disclosed yesterday in reply to G. H. Castleden (CCF-Yorkton). The provinces concerned are: Manitoba, $34,774,990; Saskatchewan, $86,863,996; Alberta, $26,237,500, and British Columbia, $34,467,140.

In the case of British Columbia and Alberta, in view of the improved financial position of the provinces it had been suggested they attempt to repay a portion but no formal demand for repayment was made. Alberta repaid "a small amount" on one bill.

Full interest had been paid regularly by the two provinces and by Manitoba. Saskatchewan was paying interest only on $7,008,600.

Gets ILO Post

MONTREAL, April 10—(CP)—Appointment of George Alexander Johnston, assistant secretary, British minister of labor and national service, as assistant director of the International Labor Office, was announced at ILO headquarters here yesterday.

Organization Is Discussed At CCF Meeting

Organization plans were discussed at a recent meeting of the provincial board of the Alberta CCF Farmer-Labor party, held in Edmonton.

Elmer Roper of Edmonton, and P. N. R. Morrison of Calgary were delegated to attend the national council meeting at Ottawa.

Mrs. Nellie Peterson, vice-president, presided in the absence through illness, of J. E. Cook, the provincial president.

MEMBERS PRESENT

The following members were in attendance: C. A. Coutts, Claresholm; Gordon L. Clark, Edmonton; Uri Powell, Sexsmith; Flt.-Lt. A. J. E. Liesemer, Calgary; Clifford E. Lee, Edmonton; J. N. Sykes, Calgary; W. W. Scott, Ironsprings; Stuart Wright, Hughenden; Elmer E. Roper, Edmonton; R. H. Carlyle, Blackfalds; J. J. Tipman, Stettler; J. Enright, Edmonton; John King, Edmonton; Miss Frances Mjolsness, Edmonton; Sigurd Lefsrud, Viking; Mrs. Nellie Peterson, Mayerthorpe; Mrs. Laura Mahon, Edson.

The following statement was issued by the meeting:

We believe the public has been misinformed on the defection from the CCF of two Manitoba MLAs' an equal number in Ontario and a CCF candidate in Alberta.

The individuals concerned are supporters of the Labor Progressive party. They secured membership in the CCF by the usual membership agreement of agreeing to "support the program of the CCF as laid down by annual conventions from time to time". They remained in the CCF until the time their defection could, in our opinion, most damage our party. In each case their statements supported the policy of the Communists in Canada, namely a coalition of parties, including Liberals, which in our opinion could only lead to disappointment for the Canadian people.

Their charge that the CCF is controlled from the top is untrue. Conventions of ordinary members of the CCF all over Canada have, in the last year, turned down, by almost unanimous vote, the same proposal these men are now making.

ON INSTRUCTIONS

CCF officers in again refusing them consideration are acting on instructions from these conventions. By their violation of their pledge to abide by the democratic decisions of the membership in matters of party policy, the men referred to have by their own action severed their connection with the CCF.

One of the basic Communist beliefs is that communism can only come by a well-organized minority forcing its will on a confused majority. Such an opportunity comes only in time of chaos. The Communists know that. They want an unworkable coalition of parties with different goals because it can only lead to the chaos which gives them their opportunity.

Evacuated Nazis Return to Homes

BRITISH 2ND ARMY HEADQUARTERS, April 10—(Reuters)—The first 10,000 of some 25,000 German civilians moved from their cottages and farms before Field Marshal Montgomery launched his Rhineland offensive returned to their homeland yesterday. The other 15,000 will return next Monday. The "security evacuation" of these thousands and their resettlement is one of the biggest jobs ever undertaken by the military government.

Ban Publication

OTTAWA, April 10—(CP)—The periodical "Money" published in New York City, has been denied entry to Canada "because it was spreading German propaganda", Trade Minister MacKinnon said in the house of commons, Social Credit house leader.

Air Inspectors Outline Rules Private Flying

Because a considerable number of discharged RCAF personnel contemplate remaining in aviation there is confusion among such as to necessary qualifications for obtaining civilian flying licenses.

Civil aviation and airways officials in Edmonton have issued a circular which serves as a guide to those airmen seeking careers in civil aviation.

The new regulations in effect apply to private pilots. Limited commercial pilots and public transport pilots.

PRIVATE PILOTS

Those desiring to become private pilots should apply to the controller of civil aviation and should be accompanied by proof of service, flying qualifications and a certified copy of the final medical report before release from the service. All flying tests will be waived for private pilots licenses and the ability examination required will be on air regulations, traffic rules. Issue of these licenses is in abeyance temporarily due to the restrictions on pleasure flying.

All flying tests will be waived in the case of qualified RCAF pilots desiring to become limited commercial pilots and the only examinations required will be on air regulations, traffic rules and information circulars.

All flying tests also will be waived on qualified RCAF pilots seeking public transport pilot licenses. Complete copies of the regulations are available at civil aviation offices.

Canucks Honor First War Heroes Of Vimy Ridge

By MARGARET ECKER

VIMY RIDGE, France, April 10. —(CP) — Canadians paid tribute this 28th anniversary of the capture of Vimy Ridge to the men who captured that 800-foot headland on the plains of Flanders in the First World War.

It was on April 9, 1917 that troops of the Canadian Corps of the British Isles Army swept to the top to capture the ridge, which gave the Allies one important position in the plains where the victory drive was launched against the Germans a year later.

Yesterday, in the midst of another victory drive against the same enemy, a handful of Canadian soldiers of the older war, along with warriors of the new Canadian army, laid their floral tribute before Vimy Ridge memorial.

Crack Scots Regiment Now in Europe Learned Mountain Tactics in Rockies
Canadians Taught Lovat Scouts Skiing and Climbing in Jasper Park Area

Sergeant Eino Luhta, Finnish-Canadian graduate of the Yoho Valley army school for mountaineers, was an instructor in mountain tactics to the Lovat Scouts.

By Wm. Brown-Forbes

Scottish officers and men of the Lovat Scouts, a mountaineering battalion now active in the battle of Europe, learned their skiing and mountain tactics from Canadians high in the Canadian Rockies at Jasper Park.

Led by prominent mountaineers, the Scouts made the first winter ascents of some of the highest peaks in the Rockies, took training in rock and ice climbing, skiing, hill tactics and small arms fire. On the three, four or five day "schemes" which the men performed, climbing peaks, traversing dangerous terrain, digging snowholes for the night, conducting manoeuvres, they each carried rucksacks stuffed with sleeping bags, Arctic rations for three days, white camouflage outfits, crampons, rifle, ammunition, ice axe and a primus stove—some 65 pounds to lug up a few thousand feet.

At night they dug their igloos about 18 inches under the snow's surface, with bunks, tables and seats carved out of the walls of the subterranean shelters. A ski pole, labbed handle down through the roof, provided ventilation and let the fumes of the stove escape as dinner was cooked. The under-snow hut would soon be as warm as any home.

The Lovat Scouts were sent to hold the Faroe Islands at the beginning of the war and for two summers were on guard duty at Balmoral Castle, the King's Scottish residence, training in the hill country of the region, climbing the peaks of the Grampians.

It was in the Canadian Rockies where dozens of peaks pile up past the 10,000-foot mark that the tough mountaineering began. In temperatures often colder than 20-below zero, with winds almost whisking them off rock faces, snow whirling about them in blinding fogs, and slippery, treacherous ice underfoot, the Lovat Scouts squadrons climbed many of the toughest peaks in the range.

Many Canadian mountaineers and visitors from other countries had scaled these peaks before but seldom in the same weather, and rarely had such large numbers of men climbed them at the same time, each burdened with a load which the average man could hardly carry downtown without help.

It was a tough, gruelling job; three months of freezing cold and back-breaking work, but it made them the crack regiment they are, experts in sharpshooting, mountain climbing, observing, able to ski and do the innumerable tasks that such a group of shock troops might be called on to perform.

The Lovat Scouts regiment was raised in 1899 by Simon Fraser, 15th Lord Lovat, a Highland landowner, to counteract the Boers' knowledge of outdoors and their familiarity with the terrain on which the South African war was being fought. Stress was laid on observing and sniping as the Scouts' main task and the regiment was composed of stalkers, gillies and gamekeepers—and even some poachers—from the Scottish estates.

Canada made fast friends in these Scotsmen who trained here. Many a Canadian overseas these last five years will make friends of these men in battle zones when they hear in burring accents how Athabaska looks as the sun comes up and tints the snow and the rock rust red, that the deer in Jasper are still gentle-eyed and tame, that Edmonton is a busy western metropolis, that the snow is keen and cold, the sun-glare bright, the air fresh and the wind sharp as your skis carry you down the long slopes of the mountains of home.

Mortar fire training was given the crack Scots regiment by Canadian troops in the Rockies at Jasper Park. These explosives are used to break up threatening avalanches.

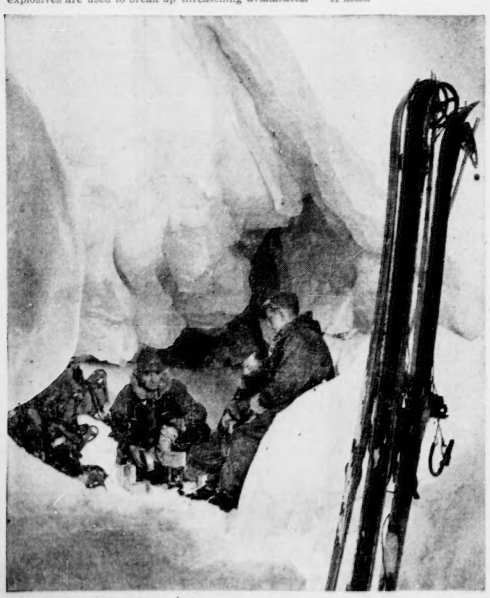

Up the long fan of the Athabaska Glacier high in the Canadian Rockies at Jasper Park go these members of the Lovat Scouts, crack Scots regiment which played a vital part in the invasion of Europe. The men, trained by Canadians, carried 65 pounds of equipment, kept going in the world's most rugged terrain for ten hours a day. On long ascents, which sometimes took five days, the men slept in the snow.

Members of the Lovat Scouts arrive at Columbia Icefield Chalet after a four-day hike through the toughest weather the Rockies can generate and pause for a cold drink at the canteen bar before wolfing up a steaming four-course meal.

L/C Mackenzie, has been in the Lovat Scouts for six years, is now fighting in Europe. A game-keeper in civilian life he is a crack shot, works as a sniper.

Igloos, snow huts or natural ice caves were used as dwellings by the Lovats. In an ice cave formed by snow cornice hanging over a crack in the Athabaska Glacier, these one-time Scots gillies and gamekeepers "hole up" for the night.

Vital weapon in mountainous terrain is the weasel. Similar to the Bren carrier, it floats, climbs 69 degree hills, can travel on ice at 36 miles an hour.

Isolated or lost sections of Mountain troops training in the Rockies were sent ammunition, supplies, by plane and parachute. Men made packsacks into symbol on the ice and took cover until the 'chute landed.

Aluminum Firm's Profit $10,332,318

MONTREAL, April 10.—(CP)—Aluminum Company of Canada reports net profit of $10,332,318 for 1944, equal to $6.38 per share of the common shares, compared with profit of $11,815,087, or $7.37 per share, in 1943. The report said the decrease was "partly due to somewhat lower shipments of aluminum for war purposes, and partly due to the inescapable expense of closing down war plants, some of which are now being re-opened to produce additional metal for the United States."

Retail to consumers: A large, 44; A medium, 42; A pullet, 36; grade B, 38; grade C, 32.

The Edmonton egg market continues steady at price advances which went into effect last week. Production shows an increase of a further 15 per cent. over the previous week, and indications are that the peak week of production will be resumed by the last week of this month similar to that of last year. Quality continues very good. Seven carlots were shipped in shell to the British ministry, ten carlots oiled and stored for fall export, eight carlots directed to the Special Products Board for local drying, and two carlots grade C shipped to the United States. Shipments to northern projects and army camps were on a lighter basis than the previous week.

POULTRY PRICES

The poultry market continues quiet with very light arrivals of fowl and some light chicken. One carlot of mixed chicken, fowl, geese and ducks was shipped to New York, United States. Paying prices remain firm and unchanged from the previous week and are as follows: Broilers 2 to 3½ poundh, milkfed A 30c, milkfed B 28c; Grade B 26c, grade C 22c, less 6c per head as a killing charge. Paying prices on live No. 1 fowl over 5 lbs. 17c, No. 2 fowl 10c, No. 1 chicken over 4 pounds 19c, No. 2 15c.

HATCHERY OUTLOOK

This week's report is based on reports received from 19 matcheries with a setting capacity of 1,421,992 eggs, and they report eggs set since start of season 2,774,759, with total chicks hatched since start of season 1,120,014. Hatchability average for the past week is 65 per cent., which is an improvement over this time last year. Some individual hatches are commendable, running as high as 88 per cent. The month of April has every indication of being a very heavy hatching month, and expectation of number of chicks produced will equal those hatched in April, 1944.

Advance bookings for May are also very satisfactory, and one large operator reports that he will have to import chicks to fill orders. The movement of cockerel chicks has been very well the past week, and apparently no gassing has been necessary during the past week. It is also interesting to note that production of commercial eggs is in a fraction 20 per cent. greater than for the same period in 1944.

This Week In Farming

Every Tuesday by Stanley A. Williams

Hog Producers Are Advised Obtain Early Barley Supply

If hog production is to be maintained to meet Canada's requirements in 1945, farmers and feeders should make plans immediately to provide themselves with adequate barley supplies, according to officials of the Alberta department of agriculture.

"A shortage of barley for feed purposes is apparent in many heavy producing livestock areas of the black and grey soil belts," officials said. "To maintain the livestock industry so essential for national requirements and equally essential to the farm economy of these two soil belts, an increased acreage of barley is needed in 1945."

Barley shortages are said to be due to increased demands for livestock feed in all parts of Canada, and because of the expanded market existing at the present time for barley of malting quality.

ANOTHER FACTOR

Another factor is that many farmers decreased barley acreages in 1944 in order to grow more wheat.

"There are still ample supplies of commercial barley of good germination in areas where this acreage should be increased," officials stated. "This grain, cleaned for seed, can be used to advantage in increasing the acreages to avert similar shortages another year."

VENTILATION OF BARNS

Reports of extension workers throughout the province indicate that several barns are being built without sufficient thought being given to satisfactory systems of ventilation. This is a serious mistake on the part of the builder states B. T. Stephanson, agricultural engineer. Information on construction is so readily available that there would seem to be no reason why any barn should lack an adequate ventilation system.

A proper ventilation system provides for the removal of moisture, carbon dioxide and other waste products given off in the breath and through the skins of animals. It allows a sufficiently frequent change of air to maintain a healthy atsmophere in the barn. It aids in prevention of disease, to the spread of which poor ventilation contributes. Adequate ventilation removes stable odors, an essential in the production of first quality milk, and it maintains an even temperature in the buildings.

SEEDING FORAGE CROPS

When sowing forage crops, attention to depth and time of seeding may make all the difference between failure and success. One of the most frequent causes of failure to obtain a satisfactory stand is that seed has been sown too deeply. The ideal depth for most small seeds is ½ inch below the surface. Some covering is desirable but seeds are much better on the surface where they might germinate than if they are down so deep that they can't possibly grow. Broadcast seeding followed by packing usually proves most successful.

In considering the best time for seeding forage crops, N. N. Bentley, supervisor of crop improvement, provincial agriculture department, advises that proper conditions of moisture and temperature are essential. Young seedling plants of grasses and legumes cannot withstand drought and heat until they have become well rooted. Satisfactory stands are usually obtained when forage crops are sown in either of two seasons. Crested wheat grass sown about the first of September will germinate and become established before freeze-up, or it can be sown very early in the spring. It should not be sown in May, June or July.

The other grasses and the legumes might be sown early so that they may germinate in the early spring moisture just as the frost is coming out of the soil. They should not, however, be sown in the early spring unless there is sufficient moisture at the depth of planting to germinate the seed. The seed is better in the sack than sown in loose dry soil. Wait until after a good rain, even though it does not come until late in June.

CROP CONTROL OF WEEDS

According to H. J. Mather, supervisor of weed control, Alberta agriculture department, more attention should be given to destruction of annual weeds in the early spring. Cereal crops have certain advantages in speedy germination and rapid early growth over annual weed seeds. This factor is important and is the key to the method of controlling annual weeds in ways other than by cultivation. Fields should be handled in such a way as to give the cereal crops every advantage of speedy growth, and at the same time to put the annual weeds at a disadvantage.

Three methods of control are outlined by Mr. Mather. The first method is to cultivate the field to destroy all annual weeds present. Then seed immediately to a cereal crop, preferably barley, at a shallow depth and at a heavy rate of seeding. The cereal crop will develop rapidly enough to shade the new seedlings of annual weeds sufficiently to prevent their growth.

The second method is of distinct advantage in those areas where fertilizer is beneficial. This consists in following the method already described, but with the addition of fertilizer. When fertilizer is used it may not be necessary to increase the rate of seeding to any great extent.

The third method has been used very successfully on stinkweed and wild mustard, which in some areas are very troublesome weeds. This method consists of seeding a cereal crop, preferably barley, about 3½ inches deep. The kernels of the grain are then watched carefully until the initial sprouts on the kernels are about ½ to ¾ inch in length.

RASPBERRY PRUNING

If raspberry canes that bore fruit last summer are still in the planting they should be removed at ground level says Dr. J. S. Shoemaker, professor of horticulture, the University of Alberta. They are now dead and different in color from the other canes. It is better to remove them before heading back the others. The amount of heading back required will depend on the height of the canes, which in many cases grow to a height of about six feet. Unsupported canes are usually best headed back, in more or less hedge form, to a height of about 4½ feet.

WARBLE FLY CONTROL

R. H. Painter, Dominion entomological laboratory, Lethbridge, and in charge of the campaign for the eradication of warble flies in western Canada, outlined the progress of that program to the annual meeting of the Industrial and Development Council of Canadian Meat Packers recently in Winnipeg. He summarized the situation as follows:

"I want to tell you what we have accomplished and where we are at the end of 1944. Every province in the West has passed legislation allowing any municipality to make warble fly control compulsory. In Saskatchewan there are now 20 municipalities and 65 community pastures under compulsory control. In Alberta cattle must be treated for warbles before entering most of the Forest Reserve pastures. Control measures are now compulsory on all Indian reserves.

"In Alberta the ranchers were the people to whom we particularly wanted to sell the campaign. Treating by hand was not pratical in ranch herds and the power spray method was developed. In 1943, with two power machines we treated 2,300 cattle experimentally. To meet the resultant demand from the larger ranchers we managed to get, through Mr. Bloom, the Machinery Controller, 25 machines early in 1944. These went so fast it was not funny! We got another shipment of machines and most of them are now gone. We now have 60 machines in the prairie provinces, each of which can treat 60,000 cattle.

"In 1944 we treated nearly one million cattle, divided about as follows:

|---|---|
| Manitoba | 150,000 hd. |
| Saskatchewan | 400,000 hd. |
| Alberta | 400,000 hd. |

Of the Alberta cattle, some 200,000 head were strictly in range herds."

General Motors Ready For Loan

OSHAWA, April 10.—Employees of General Motors of Canada, Limited, in this city alone, have tucked away in safe deposit boxes and other holders for valuables, Victory Bonds amounting to $4,000,000.

Preparations are now under way for the 8th Loan Campaign and a quota has been set which, on the basis of present employment figures, will compare favorably to the $1,013,000 purchased by local employees during the 7th loan campaign. The substantial increase between the figures for the 6th loan, which amounted to $735,550, and those for the last campaign is evidence of the increasing interest shown by employees in this type of saving.

These figures represent purchases by the employees only and do not include bonds purchased by the company.
